SUBJECT: The Newark North Ward Citizen's Council, The United Brother's of Newark and [redacted]

Further to our conversation of to-day I am pleased to provide the following information. b6 b7C

On April 3 at 9:15 p.m. I received a telephone call from a Negro leader, [redacted] asking if I had informed Newark Police [redacted] of his [redacted] conversation with me in Police Headquarters during the day. On my inquiring he told me that he was calling from Sterling Street (presumably [redacted] address at No. 33 - The Spirit House). I told him that I would not talk on the phone and invited [redacted]

At 10:15 p.m., [redacted] Newark Police Department in attendance arrived and we spoke informally of his hopes for racial harmony in Newark and his belief that [redacted] was the only member of the present City Administration trusted by the "Blackman". We discussed the Holy Koran, in which [redacted] is very well versed, and his attitudes towards other races. It is noted that [redacted] differentiates between European, Caucasian and Jewish people; and as regards the latter ethnic group is tolerant toward the Orthodox, less tolerant toward the Modern and Reformed branches and bitterly opposed to Zionism.

At 10:50 p.m., [redacted] National Guards, telephoned the office to say that the City Council Meeting had ended and inquired whether he should bring Mr. Anthony Imperiale, President of the Newark North Ward Citizens Council to meet me. I told him that [redacted] was present, and that he would welcome the opportunity of "opening a dialogue" with Mr. Imperiale.

Soon after this Imperiale accompanied by a "bodyguard" of two young men, [redacted] and [redacted] together with [redacted] Newark Police Department arrived and were introduced to [redacted]. There was some general conversation and then [redacted] asked me to say something "to get things moving". I spoke very briefly on the need for a reduction in racial tension and of [redacted] dedication to effective law enforcement for all sections of the community; [redacted] and Imperiale both stated that this was their aim. [redacted] also admitted that he only controlled leaders, not men, adding that he sought nothing, wanted no publicity and would like to work for "his people" behind the scenes. [redacted] then said that he thought he and Imperiale could "work something out" if they talked privately. They went into the second office and conversed for about 40 minutes. At one time, briefly, there were raised voices. It was not possible to record or overhear the conversation due to the "bodyguard's" presence. On returning to the main office each man wrote something briefly--but more than an address-- on a piece of paper, exchanged papers and shook hands.

At this time [redacted] called [redacted] and confirmed a meeting at 2:30 p.m. on April 5 in his office for these men and other community people -- [redacted]. Both [redacted] and Imperiale added that [redacted] and I should attend [redacted] stating that he would ensure maximum effective Black participation.

In the general conversation that followed, both [redacted] and Imperiale said that they distrusted the present City Administration, and did not believe that [redacted] was sincere in his promises. Both men were especially critical of Malafrente, Threatt and Black of the City Administration. Again both men said that they wished to deal in all matters with Director Spina.

At approximately 11:30 p.m. the groups left separately, Imperiale first. After he had left, he told [redacted] that he trusted [redacted] for his part told me that he thought that he and Imperiale could work together for Newark.

A report on N.W.C.C. and its leadership is presently being made and a copy will be made available to you.

Since the meeting mentioned in this note, I have had several meetings with [redacted] and have established the following.

[redacted]

[redacted] (He is of course, critical of the Black Muslims and says that they are "learning the true faith slowly") [redacted] observes his religious laws in abstaining from alcohol and any product contaminated by pork. [redacted] claims to control all facets of Negro opinion in Newark and states that "Riots are wrong. We can, in time take over the City by righteous means".

[redacted] resides with his family [redacted] and [redacted] has previously lived at [redacted]

by the Iman of the Brooklyn Mosque of the Addenu Allahe Universal Arabic Association. [] entered this branch of the Moslem faith, making shadah less than five years ago and is now a leading figure in the United Brothers and Black Youth Organization (BYO). While he states that he only "controls leaders", he is also able to put into the field more than fifty young men and women, these he uses for crowd control, the gathering of intelligence and general duties. His members are identified by wearing a red fez or a caftan. It is noted that Kamiel exercises a very firm control of his people.

Prior to his making shadah [] was employed in the trucking and chemical industries and also claims that he was heavily involved in organized gambling (Nigger Dominoes --Dice Games) and in "fixing". He states that in the past five years he has lived in Boston, Mass and Washington, D.C., and has a fair knowledge of these cities. [] states that he is violently opposed to Willie Wright because this man is a "Trotsky" communist and that he and others like Harry Wheeler should not have any part in the "movement" as they are thieves. He also claims to be keeping the self-styled [] out of Newark as Hassan is known to him to be both a thief and an informer, on the payroll of a Federal Agency.

[] becomes paranoid on the subject of "The Zionist Conspiracy" and believes that agents of the Zionist movement have recently, in Newark, taken pictures of himself and his children. In intense conversation he sometimes misses the point to such an extent as to suggest a high degree of disorientation as to time and place. The subject has recently been under the care of Doctors in the Martland Medical Center - City Hospital - with an unspecified wasting disease, he knows neither the diagnosis or prognosis.

[] will not allow photographs of himself to be taken, avoids any questions on his pre-Moslem life and, has been able to avoid any subterfuge to obtain his finger prints. In telephone conversations he is guarded. These factors together with his knowledge of Arab League politics suggests some instruction in clandestine operations.

The subject's associates are stated by him to be []. Other Newark associates are [] and []. He gives as a credit reference a []. Subject states that all these people have made Shadah.

A close observation of [] operations in Newark during the past week indicates that he has a power basis in the Negro community. This has been demonstrated in relation to [].

Two flyers circulated by [] through the OEO CAP Agency, UCC are attached which it is presumed had [] approval.

I also attach an evaluation of the subject by [] one of our staff who is in close contact with [].

Hon. David Satz

My own evaluation is that [] is either sincere and hoping to achieve political power in Newark or a very dangerous fraud. I believe that I have been able to create a degree of empathy with this man and will hopefully be able to maintain contact with him. Please let me know how if you require further cooperation from my office in this matter.

SUBJECT : [REDACTED]

Strenuously determined not to unveil my own personal personality and character deficiencies, I will render without benefit of any scientific measuring instrument a subjective opinion of [REDACTED]

My first meeting with [REDACTED] was spent listening very attentively and observing his physical and verbal actions. He seems to have some built-in attitude toward histrionics, evinced by his quickly taking a higher ground psychologically strategic position. This "up and down" move, though distracting is either done for "affect" or is a direct result of his committed emotional involvement when he digresses from the political aspects of his topic to the emotional religious involvement of the same topic (Especially when the subject is Zionism).

[REDACTED] will at first appear to be well educated in terms of depth, but this gives way to just being a manifestation of his being widely (not critically evaluative) read, especially in philosophy of Islam. Pursuing his conversation with deliberate scrutiny one readily perceives fallacious logic, with many seemingly lapses of either recall or fact (the use of vague and nondescript terms) and an apparent "canned" vocabulary... in terms of concept and extension,

Having been invited to "break bread", that is to eat at his home, I have attempted to use this opportunity to pursue [REDACTED] individual personal "ego" needs. E.G. Power, Status, Economics, etc., in informal and (deliberately instigated by myself) speeded up thinking conversation [REDACTED] suggests to this writer the very thing that he subjectively seems to be fleeing, that is his American Negro identity; this is evinced by a certain dialectical inflexions that are difficult to eradicate.

Though I may not be able to scientifically substantiate my inference, I sense that [REDACTED] is playing an intellectual game of human chess, with himself being portrayed as the great denied manipulator-deliverer. Recessed in my own mind is the beating of some impulse wave that tells me that here is a power oriented and a power determined person who will only meet things head on when it is absolutely essential. I cannot say that I do not trust the subject, I would rather say that with this man as a true and trusted friend, under the right circumstances, I would hastily secure an extra insurance policy to back up the one I already have.

I make the above observations being fully aware of [REDACTED] (dubious) contributions to the community in the past emotionally charged days. On the personal level his charisma may be very effective, yet I insist upon maintaining certain mental reservations about his ability to lead and to exercise effective control and influence over large groups of people to which he has attested time and time again.

As a life long member of Newark's Negro community this man is new to me. He should be treated with caution but not deference.

WHO SET THE FIRES ????????

The afternoon and evening, late night and even early morning the next day, there were fires set all over the Central Ward, the most heavily populated black district in Newark. Some of these fires may have been set by young boys popping their fingers, tired of listening to the television lies of "tribute" to our dead leader.

But some of the fires, especially those set early morning, were quite certainly the work of arsonists (professional firesetters) who don't even live around here. At one point a few cars of white men were stopped by police, riding around, at 3-4 o'clock in the morning, for what purpose?

Another strange aspect of the fires was that at a few spots, especially where the fires began very late night, early morning, police sat like they were hypnotized by the fires, making no move to call in an alarm, until other observers moved onto the scene. [We want to know why these things happened.] WHO STOOD TO BENEFIT BY LATE NIGHT FIRES IN ABANDONED BUILDINGS????

BLACK PEOPLE DID NOT SET MOST OF THOSE FIRES ON THEIR OWN HOMES!!!!

We believe that most of the fires were set in an attempt to discredit Black Militants with the Black Community. To set brother against brother, again. To stop the militant community from bringing political power to all Black People in Newark.

[] mentioned that on Thursday, 4/11/68, he had taken [] and [] to Washington, D.C., to meet New Jersey Congressmen []

The reason for this trip, his contact with USA DAVID M. SATZ, JR., and subsequent FBI contact is open to conjecture.

Near the conclusion of the interview, [] pointed out that [] had been very helpful to the HCUA in that he did furnish [] and the Committee many leaflets that he had picked up. [] noted that [] is perhaps too modest to admit it, but he has some very excellent sources who can and do develop information which [] feels is beyond the scope of some of his clients, such as the Newark Police Department. Further, because of evidence of some loose talking in the Newark Police Department, [] would feel unwilling to turn over certain information to them because of the danger to his sources. After this statement by [] also added that some of the information his co-workers develop is such that he is unwilling to turn it over to the Newark Police Department, but he did feel that he should furnish it to a higher authority. He then specifically asked what, if anything, the FBI wanted him to do since he felt he might come upon some information of perhaps a criminal nature which might incriminate high-placed officials in Newark. At this point [] was told that he was being given no specific assignment and that any actions he took were his own responsibility. He was also told that Newark would not ask him under any circumstances to violate any moral or ethical relationship he had with any employer, police department, or individual. If, however, he did obtain any information which he felt should be furnished to the FBI and it would not in any way violate his relationship with any of his clients and he did desire to furnish it to the FBI, the FBI would receive such information.

The above approach was taken with [] since it was felt that this individual was attempting in some ways to sell himself or his services to the FBI. He has been in close contact with the Newark Police Department, has visited the United States Attorney's Office, and finally visited the FBI. He brought with him no more information than that prepared in memorandum form which is attached hereto.

He seemingly prides himself on the fact that he can deal as he says with both sides of the population in Newark. He admits he is accepted by [redacted] and his Italian cohorts despite the fact that he is not Italian. He credits this acceptance to the fact that he has a British accent and is considered by them to be "exotic." His acceptance by people of the Negro race and people like [redacted], the writer, and [redacted] is due, he feels, to the fact that he has a Negro wife.

In all, it was the opinion of the interviewing agents that [redacted] coming to the Newark Office was in some way attempting to enhance his credentials in contacting other potential clients. No encouragement was given him since it was felt that he is a "name dropper" and it is not too unlikely that he will advise others that he has been in contact with the FBI, if he feels such a statement will be beneficial to him. In the event this man does recontact the Newark Office to furnish information, it will be accepted, but no encouragement will be given him. In any contact with him, it will be at "arm's length" since it is believed he does exaggerate and will enlarge upon the truth to make a point. Further, [redacted] background indicates he is an opportunist without scruples; and while he jokingly referred to himself as a con man at one point during the interview, it is felt there is more truth than jest in his remark.

The Bureau is requested to review its indices and furnish Newark any information it may have on [redacted] National Goals, Inc. In this connection Bureau's attention is invited to Baltimore teletype to Bureau dated 7/27/67 captioned "RACIAL DISTURBANCE, INFORMATION CONCERNING" and Newark teletype to Bureau under same date and caption wherein [redacted] is mentioned variously as with Training Systems International, Metuchen, N.J., and also as consultant for Police Support Program, U. Grace's Mystery Man Tells His Association

By TOM SULLIVAN and FRANK McGRATH

A tall, ruddy and bewhiskered Welshman, 37-year-old former RAF flyer John Rees, last night revealed details of his association with Peyton Place authoress Grace Metalious, whose will, drawn only last Monday, may make him a millionaire.

At a press conference called at the Beacon st. office of Atty. John Cremens, the debonair Britisher described himself as "business manager and close friend" of Mrs. Metalious, who died suddenly Tuesday in Beth Israel Hospital of a liver ailment.

Asked if his "close friendship" with the author was going to materialize into marriage, Rees said, "Grace wanted no part of another marriage. She always said she never wanted to be a three-time loser."

In the Fall of last year, Rees said, he "met Grace Metalious, for whom I always had the greatest admiration, and talked with her regarding a possible magazine article for the British press.

"As a result of this meeting we commenced to work together on two projects, a novel dealing with the close ties existing between the people of England and New England, and a film script."

"We had about a third of the book written and two-thirds schemed when she took ill in a

Rees Tells Association With Grace Metalious

Boston hotel where we were staying last Saturday.

"After she went to the hospital she told me she wanted to change her will and asked me to get a Massachusetts lawyer. I asked friends for aid and they recommended Atty. Cremens.

"She talked with him Sunday and on Monday she had him draw up the will which left everything to me. I was not in the room when the will was drawn.

CAME AS SURPRISE

"I had no idea she would leave her estate to me. It came as a big surprise. She had told me she hadn't wanted her first husband, George Metalious, to have anything to do with her property or the children."

Pointing out that under the terms of the new will the children would get nothing, interviewers asked why she cut them out.

"Because she knew I would take care of them," Rees responded. "Although I have no legal obligation, I do have a moral obligation. If they ever want anything I'm going to see that they get it."

Asked to estimate the value of the Metalious estate, Rees said it is difficult to do because much of it depends on royalties and movie rights.

He said that there are two valuable pieces of property, the Peyton Place Motel, currently up for sale, and her home in Gilmanton, which has 1000 acres of land.

TO STAY IN HUE

Asked about his present plans, Rees said, "I plan to stay in Boston for a while until the will is settled, because I would not want anyone to think I'm running away. I believe I would eventually like to live in New Hampshire."

He said he came to America in 1962, "Because I always had a great admiration for America."

For four years prior to coming here, Rees said, he worked as a reporter and in the executive department of the London Daily Mirror.

Asked what he did in the executive department he replied "Anything nobody else would do."

He spent two years in this country writing articles for British newspapers and magazines prior to meeting Grace last fall.

FAMILY DEAD

"She called me concerning an article I had written for an English periodical," he said, "and we were later introduced through a radio man who was a mutual friend.

"From then on they were inseparable until her death," he related.

Rees said he has travelled extensively and once worked for newspapers in Australia. He said he has no near relative. His parents and two brothers are all dead.

Kin Challenge Will

By FRANK MAHONEY

John Rees, a bearded 37-year-old British journalist, explained to the press Wednesday night how and why novelist Grace Metalious left him her million-dollar fortune.

Mrs. Metalious, author of the controversial best-seller "Peyton Place," drew up a new will shortly before her death here Sunday night naming Rees as sole beneficiary.

Rees said he met her only five months ago. Since then, he said, he had acted as her business manager and also was collaborating with her on a novel.

He said they were "very close friends" but added that the relationship was purely platonic. They never contemplated marriage.

The handsome, broad-shouldered Welshman said her reason for writing a new will was that she didn't want her divorced husband, George, to have anything to do with the estate.

The first will left everything to her three children. They have already begun court action to contest the deathbed document.

Rees said Mrs. Metalious made him promise before witnesses that if she left her estate to him he would see that the children never wanted for anything.

"I am morally bound to abide by this promise," he declared.

The children are a married daughter, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis; Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 13.

Through their attorney, they challenged the second will Wednesday in Belknap County, N.H., Probate Court.

The Wednesday night conference, at which Rees revealed himself to the press for the first time, was arranged by Atty. John Cremens of Cambridge, who drew up the new will.

Reporters had been trying in vain to track Rees down.

Rees said he has been living for four months in the swank Charles River Development in the Back Bay. His name, however, is not listed in the foyer, and his telephone is unlisted.

As late as 8 Wednesday night, the manager of the development was denying that anyone named Rees lived there.

Rees, a former reporter in London, has been in this country since 1962 doing freelance writing. He met Mrs. Metalious last October in New Hampshire through mutual friends.

She was staying at a Boston hotel when she became suddenly ill Sunday night and was taken to Beth Israel Hospital, where her ailment was diagnosed as hepatitis.

Rees said that to avoid publicity—"which she loathed"—she used his name when she entered the hospital.

Later that night she told him she was dying, Rees continued. He sought a lawyer Cremens by friends.

Cremens said Mrs. Metalious "was adamant and definite" about wanting a new will.

He added that the document was "discussed fully" before she signed it and before the signing was witnessed.

Cremens was one of four witnesses. The others were Rees, Dr. Herbert Saver, a staff physician, and a Herman Kraupf of Dorchester, a visitor at the hospital.

Mrs. Metalious died Monday morning, a few hours after signing the will.

Rees said he knew she was "unhappy" with the earlier will. He said also that her decision to make him her sole heir was a "complete surprise" to him.

Rees said Mrs. Metalious was unmarried at her death. He said she had divorced both her first husband, George, and her second, T. J. Martin, a radio disc jockey now living in New Haven.

He said earlier reports that she and George Metalious had remarried were untrue.

Rees said he was not going to her funeral today in Gilmanton, N. H., because she had specified that there be no funeral.

She wanted to leave her body to medical science. But the contesting of the will snarled that plan, and the court in Laconia acceded to the request of her daughter for a modest funeral.

co-executor was denied by Judge Stafford, who set March 25 as the date for a hearing on another Metalious family petition, "to prove the will in its solemn form."

At that hearing, Metalious' counsel, Municipal Judge Bernard Snierson and Atty. John Chandler, will have an opportunity to cross-examine the three witnesses to Mrs. Metalious' signature on the deathbed will.

They would, at that time, also have an opportunity to present their own witnesses.

It appeared likely that any decision in the case by Judge Stafford would be appealed to Superior Court.

Cremens and Holland were ordered to put up bonds of $100,000 each.

The hearing brought these other results:

—Naming of Atty. Conrad Snow of Gilmanton, real estate agent Stewart Lamprey and furniture store owner Edward Chertok of Laconia as appraisers for the estate.

—Denial of Holland's petition for disposal of the body in accordance with terms of the will, which directed it be given to Dartmouth Medical School or Harvard Medical School.

—The two colleges indicated they would not accept the body over objections of the family, and Mrs. Metalious' eldest daughter, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, 22, told the court her mother many times had expressed a desire to be buried in Smith Meeting House Cemetery, Gilmanton.

Announcement that Rev. John Morrison, pastor of the Gilmanton Federated Churches, would officiate at the funeral, Thursday afternoon in the Wilkinson-Beane Funeral Home. The body will be placed in a tomb with burial later in Smith Meeting House Cemetery.

Metalious announced that after the funeral he would return to Ludlow, Vt., where he is a high school guidance counselor, with his two younger children, Christopher, "Mike," 17, and Cynthia, 12. He said he would come back to Laconia for the will hearing.

The marital status of Grace and George Metalious remained confused. Atty. Cremens, who said he was called to the hospital Sunday on an emergency mission to write the deathbed will, declared Mrs. Metalious told him she "was single." He quoted her as saying she did not rewed her first husband after her divorce from her second husband, Thomas J. Martin, former Laconia radio station disc jockey.

Metalious, however, declared, "I claim to be Grace's legal husband. But I intend to waive any interest in favor of the children."

Last October, Mrs. Metalious announced she was separating from her husband following their announced remarriage after her divorce from Martin.

In advance of the hearing, Judge Snierson said in explaining the challenge of the deathbed will:

"Above everything else she was devoted to her children. I cannot conceive that within a few hours of her death she would consciously leave her children out of the will. We are certainly going to contest this latest will and are satisfied that it will be set aside."

Subsequent to the filing of the deathbed will in Probate Court, an earlier will made out for Mrs. Metalious by Judge Snierson May 4, 1959, when she was married to former Laconia radio station disc jockey Thomas J. Martin, was filed in the same court.

This will, leaving her entire estate to the children, Marsha, now Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, 29, Christopher, "Mike," 17, and Cynthia, now 12, directed that George Metalious be the guardian of any minor children upon her death.

Because he did not know Rees, Chandler argued, would not want to entrust the property for safe-keeping him.

Rees, he said, took from Mrs. Metalious' home Tuesday clothing, records and a reproduction of a photo of the author. suggested," said Chandler, "that it should stay, but he said it was his property, that was a gift from her."

He said Clemens suggested Rees be allowed to take it—and return it if it is adjudged to be part of the estate.

Metalious, who attended the hearing with his daughter, Marsha, and her husband, Edward Dupuis, said outside the courtroom the reproduction was of Mrs. Metalious had given him two years ago. He termed it a wonderful likeness of her.

Metalious said, "The death of Grace was a shock to me. I heard about it while on my way to a Rotary Club speaking engagement in Ludlow."

He said neither he nor any members of the family knew she was in the hospital, that he had not seen her since last fall.

He said he did not know Rees but added, "Grace would never collaborate with anyone on a book."

This was a reference to reports she and Rees had been working together on a book.

Rees, who has a luxury apartment in Emerson pl., in Charlestown, Boston, was seclusion.

$MILLION WILL FIGHT OPENS

*Boston Herald-

Court Won't Halt Metalious Rites

By ED CORSETTI and FRANK THOMPSON

LACONIA, N. H.—Legal battles were fought in two courts yesterday over the provisions of the $1,000,000 deathbed will of "Peyton Place" author Grace Metalious, 39. In Belknap County Probate Court, Judge Carroll Stafford named Atty. John S. Holland of Manchester as administrator and Atty. John F. Cremens of Cambridge, Mass., as executor to handle her estate. Holland then unsuccessfully petitioned in Belknap County Superior Court for an injunction to prevent the scheduled funeral today of Mrs. Metalious, contending the funeral was against "the expressed intention of the testator as plainly set forth in her will."

TO APPEAL FINDING

Holland then indicated to Atty. John Chandler, representing Mrs. Metalious' first husband, George, and three children, that he would appeal the finding of Superior Court Judge Thomas J. Morris to the State Supreme Court in Concord today. He obtained the necessary papers from Belknap Superior Court Clerk Robert P. Tilton.

Seated outside Judge Morris' lobby during the hearing was the eldest Metalious daughter, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, and her husband, Edward. "What are they trying to do to the kids?" they asked—referring to her brother, "Mike" (Christopher), and sister, "Cindy" (Cynthia).

"They are torturing them. We would like to get this over with as soon as possible."

NOT TOLD OF DEATH

Marsha said "Cindy" had been living with their mother while John Rees, of Boston, to whom Mrs. Metalious left her entire estate in her death-bed will, was in Gilmanton. She said all "Cindy's" clothes still were in the Metalious home.

Atty. Holland consented to open the sealed door of the home to allow Marsha to get her sister's clothes and to get a dress for the mother's burial.

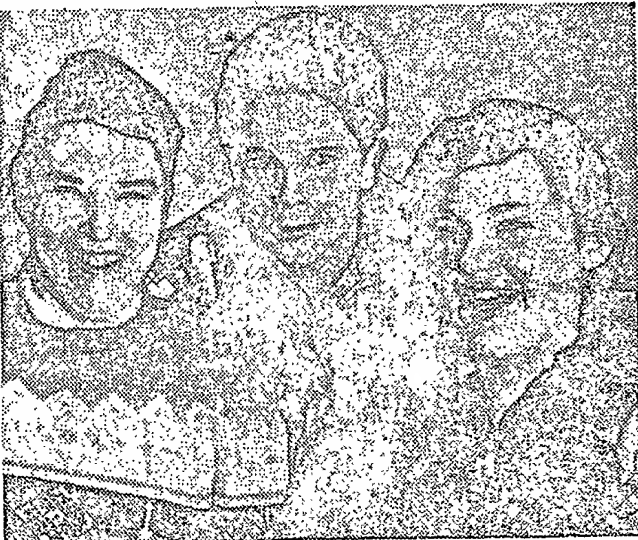

Marsha said the family had not known how ill the mother was, and added she was not informed of her mother's death.

Cremens wrote the deathbed will for Mrs. Metalious Monday evening in Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, where she died Tuesday. This will left her entire estate to her friend and purported collaborator, Rees, with the proviso that he would take care of her children.

"She was a generous person and she gave away so much," Rees said in explaining why Mrs. Metalious, author of the worldwide best-seller, "Peyton Place," did not die rich.

The Internal Revenue Service is seeking $170,000 plus interest from the estate. Rees was never publicly associated with Mrs. Metalious until she died Tuesday in Beth Israel Hospital. She bequeathed him her entire estate with the proviso he take care of her three children's financial needs.

ADMITS FRAUD

Rees admitted he had falsely passed himself off as a feature writer for the London Mirror, which has the largest circulation of any daily English-language newspaper. "Of course I was not," he said last night. "I worked there as a company executive. But I am not a complete Walter Mitty. I have been writing for years and I can

"Grace always said anyone who could talk as much as I could rival the sales of Peyton Place with his own book."

According to Rees, he and Mrs. Metalious were at work on a book comparing the lives of families in English and New land small towns at the time of her death.

Just before she died, Mrs. Mrs. Metalious warned him he was in for a bad time, he said. "Run for your life, sweetie, there's trouble coming," he quoted her as saying.

NATIONAL GOALS, INCORPORATED

LAW ENFORCEMENT PROJECT GROUP

"The problems of crime bring us together. Even as we join in common action, we know there can be no instant victory. Ancient evils do not yield to easy conquest. We cannot limit our efforts to enemies we can see. We must with equal resolve, seek out new knowledge, new techniques and new understanding."

-- President Johnson to the Congress, March, 1966 --

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice brought into sharp focus many problems now facing the law enforcement agencies of our nation. Other pressing and critical problems have been created by the accelerating rate of change and the unprecedented period of expansion in the United States. Newly emergent needs have created new roles for police officers, opportunities for innovation within agencies and important challenges to all concerned for the safety of our citizens.

In response to The President's challenge, and to help perform this re-evaluation, National Goals, Incorporated (NGI), a private non-profit service organization has formed a Law Enforcement Projects Group, which is directed by experienced Police and Correction Officers -- practical men who know the day-to-day problems of policing our Country.

National Goals, well-known in government and industry for their innovative and successful work in training and organizational development, added to its demonstrated capabilities, Police and Correction Officers who have specialized expertise in many areas of law enforcement. These Officers, working with our professionals in the fields of criminology, psychology, sociology, law and education are able to offer positive and practical assistance to their brother officers in command positions. With a thorough knowledge of police administration and procedures, developed through service across the country, National Goals can provide objective counsel to law enforcement agencies; our services range from operational research and training through assistance on specific techniques to surveys and departmental evaluations.

At this time the Law Enforcement Projects Group is working with the Police Departments of two States, three Counties, four major Cities with populations exceeding 400,000 and many smaller communities, across the Nation. We are also involved as consultant's to two State Departments of Correction, a State Department of Probation and Parole and a City House of Detention. As many assignments are of a confidential nature, our clients are never identified in a paper, such as this, with a general distribution. On June 1, 1967, National Goals received a contract from the Federal Government to produce a manual for use by Prison Administrators, we believe that this contract not only establishes NGI as the authority in this field, but also presents our staff with still further opportunities to research their subject.

Our Washington, D. C. office maintains close contact with both the Legislative and Executive branches of Government, and we believe that our advice has been instrumental in securing modifications and amendments to legislation within areas of our competence. NGI is involved under contract with the U. S. Department of Justice, the U. S. Department of Labor, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and The Office of Economic Opportunity. With an established competence in the area of "Grantsmanship" both our local and Washington staff are able to provide expert assistance to clients who are seeking Federal funding assistance.

Among our current projects for these various departments and organizations are:

- ...a study related to the use of Helicopters in crime prevention
- ...the development of a Task Force, on a county-wide basis, for use in unusual occurrences -- riot control, visit by a VIP, plane crash, etc.
- ...the application of the "systems approach" to law enforcement -- relating research, manpower, training, equipment, communications and intelligence to operational procedures

THE PREPARATION OF A MANUAL FOR INTELLIGENCE UNITS, AND A MANUAL FOR RIOT CONTROL GROUPS

-the training and re-training of Custodial Staff in a State Prison system
-a study related to the use of Television for reducing manpower in a City House of Correction
-the use of computers and data processing equipment in police information systems
-the setting-up of a Forensic Laboratory to serve several Departments
-the recruiting, selection and pre-entry training of minority group citizens for a police career
-various Police Community Relations projects, including work with Police Cadet units, Police Aides, Spanish Language Instruction, etc.
-a reverse-flow traffic plan for a Metropolitan area
-the setting up of a County mutual-aid scheme, the design of a Facility to serve as the County Rendezvous Center and the design of a County Training School, Range and related Facilities. This Project also includes the design of a training curriculum and the development of materials.

National Goals also offers top level consulting services in the selection and procurement of all types of police equipment. Since we are not engaged in the marketing or licensing of any equipment, we are in a position to make completely objective evaluations and authoritative recommendations on any technical or "hardware" problem that may be encountered by a Law Enforcement Agency.

At National Goals our basic resources are our people. The reputation that we enjoy is a reflection of the calibre of the consultants who make up our organization and of their ability and desire to serve our clients. To give you some appreciation of the knowledge and experience of our staff consultants, we have listed some brief biographical notes on representative members. Many of these consultants are officers in law enforcement agencies and subject to regulations, therefore their personal identity is not shown in these notes. It is noted that when on client assignment, our consultants are on official leave of absence from their Department.

SECURITY MATTER - SDS

On April 26, 1968, an individual with whom insufficient contact has been had to determine reliability, but who does have contacts with various racial groups in the city of Newark, New Jersey, advised that he learned that [REDACTED] of Newark, New Jersey, is making a trip to Mexico which was arranged for by [REDACTED]. According to this source [REDACTED] left John F. Kennedy International Airport at 5:45 pm on April 21, 1968, aboard an American Airlines flight to Mexico. It was understood by source that [REDACTED] would be traveling with [REDACTED], an employee of the New York "Village Voice". Source also indicated that [REDACTED] also intended to visit Spain and make a side trip to Cuba. Some place along the way he intended to meet up with [REDACTED] (phonetic) who is also traveling to Mexico and Cuba. [REDACTED] did not plan to secure a passport and proposes just using a 30-day tourist card for entry in Mexico. It was stated that no Cuban visa stamps will be placed on [REDACTED] identification.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Metalious Heir Has Wife, Five Children

The heir to author Grace Metalious' $million estate, bearded Welsh journalist John Rees, was reported to have a wife and five children, according to dispatches last night from London, England. A London newspaper, the Daily Mail, quoted Mrs. Anthea Rees, 37, as saying she was waiting a telephone call from her husband "to tell me all about it."

Mrs. Rees said her husband left for the United States in February, 1963. She said he wrote and explained meeting the New Hampshire authoress of "Peyton Place."

Living with her children, three boys and two girls, in Harefield, Harlow, Essex, just north of London, Mrs. Rees said her husband went to the United States to work on a newspaper.

"John planned to get established and save enough so we could join him," Mrs. Rees told newsmen.

WED FOR 15 YRS.

"We planned to move to the United States last summer but things fell through so we decided to wait a while longer," she said.

Explaining that she married her husband while he was serving in the Royal Air Force 15 years ago Mrs. Rees said John has been writing nearly every day and phoning about once every two weeks.

"I was stunned when I heard John was left a fortune. The first I knew about it was when I read it in the newspapers," she added.

"John met Mrs. Metalious six months ago when his newspaper sent him to interview her. Since then they have worked together writing television scripts," Mrs. Rees stated.

Atty. John Cremens of Cambridge, who drew up Mrs. Metalious' will at Beth Israel Hospital last Sunday, said he knows nothing about Rees' background.

SERVICES HELD

Cremens said the first time he met Rees was at the hospital. "I do not represent him and don't know anything about the man. I was only called to make out the will," Cremens stated.

"One thing I do know, Mrs. Metalious wanted him to have the money with no strings attached."

The startling disclosure was revealed only a few hours after the final services for Mrs. Metalious were held in a Laconia, N. H., funeral home.

Services for the famed author who died Tuesday of a liver ailment were described as "brief and simple." They were authorized by the New Hampshire Supreme Court.

Following the final rites, it was learned Mrs. Metalious was involved in a $170,000 Federal Tax hassle.

Her first husband, George Metalious, his grief obvious, told the Record American he and Grace were married a second time "out-of-state" and were still married when she died.

"We were remarried in 1960, and if it is necessary I will produce the papers to prove it," the Ludlow, Vt., school guidance counselor said.

WILL DISREGARDED

Metalious and about 25 other relatives and close friends attended the simple service conducted by Rev. John Morrison of the Gilmanton Federated Churches in the Wilkinson-Beane Funeral Home.

The service was held despite Mrs. Metalious' deathbed will which directed that no funeral be held. The State Supreme Court in Concord, N. H., only a few hours earlier denied a petition to prevent the service.

But while the small-town girl whose earthy writings caused a storm of controversy during her life, was being sped to a tomb in Union Cemetery, Gilmanton, there to await a spring burial in Smith Meeting House Cemetery in the same town, her Federal income tax troubles were discovered in Boston.

TAX CASE IN FALL

Atty. Burton L. Williams of Boston, confirmed that a notice of deficiency had been delivered to Mrs. Metalious. Williams said he had filed a petition on her behalf that generally disputed the government's claim.

The case probably will be heard by the Tax Court in Washington in the fall, Williams said.

Should the suit be lost in its will, which read, "I direct that no funeral service be held for me."

Holland told the court funeral services would violate "the express, clear and unambiguous wishes of the testatrix."

He declared he had no objection to the body or the remains being buried at a cemetery of the family's wishes and added, "this does not mean that the petitioners should be denied the right to hold any memorial service they may deem appropriate, but not, however, in the presence of the remains, because it would be a violation of the will."

CLOSED CASKET

Opposing the petition, Chandler argued Wednesday's Belknap County Superior Court ruling allowing the funeral service should not be upset. He said the family based their case on the fact "they completely deny the validity of the second — or deathbed—will "and therefore deny any effect clause 5 may have."

"The dying wish of an individual, which we claim this was," he contended, "is not to be held as effective as the wish of the family. There is absolutely nothing to indicate in Mrs. Metalious' past that she wanted to avoid a religious service."

In her will in which she left her entire estate to John Rees, 39, British journalist, now of Boston, Mrs. Metalious directed that her eyes be given to the Eye Bank of Boston, and her body to Dartmouth Medical School or Harvard Medical School.

WILL CHALLENGED

The eyes were given to the Eye Bank, but the two universities because of the opposition of the family, declined to accept the body.

The deathbed will, leaving all her possessions to Rees, was written Monday evening in Beth Israel Hospital by Atty. John Cremens of Cambridge, who was named executor of the estate Wednesday by the Belknap County Probate, which appointed Holland as administrator of the estate.

Atty. Chandler and his partner Laconia Municipal Judge Bernard Snierston, who wrote an earlier will for Mrs. Metalious in 1953 when she was married to Thomas J. Martin, former Laconia radio station disc jockey, have challenged the new document.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

The earlier will left her estate in trust for her three children, Martha, now Mrs. Edward Dupuis, 22, of Laconia; Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 12, until all reached 25, or if any died when the survivors reached 25.

It directed that George Metalious, their father, now a high school guidance counselor in Ludlow, Vt., served as their guardian.

Metalious Kin Upheld on Rites

(Special Dispatch to The Herald)

LACONIA, N.H. — A funeral service—which her deathbed will expressly forbade — was held Thursday at 2 p.m. for Grace Metalious, famed, 39-year-old author of "Peyton Place" and other sexy novels.

Court Ruling

The brief rites, held in the Wilkinson-Beane Funeral Home, came only a few hours after the full bench of the New Hampshire Supreme Court refused a plea by John Rees, Mrs. Metalious' close friend, that they be canceled.

The bearded Briton was named sole beneficiary of her million-dollar estate in a will drawn in Beth Israel Hospital shortly before she died there Tuesday of a chronic liver disease. Her former husband, George Metalious, and their three children, are contesting the testament.

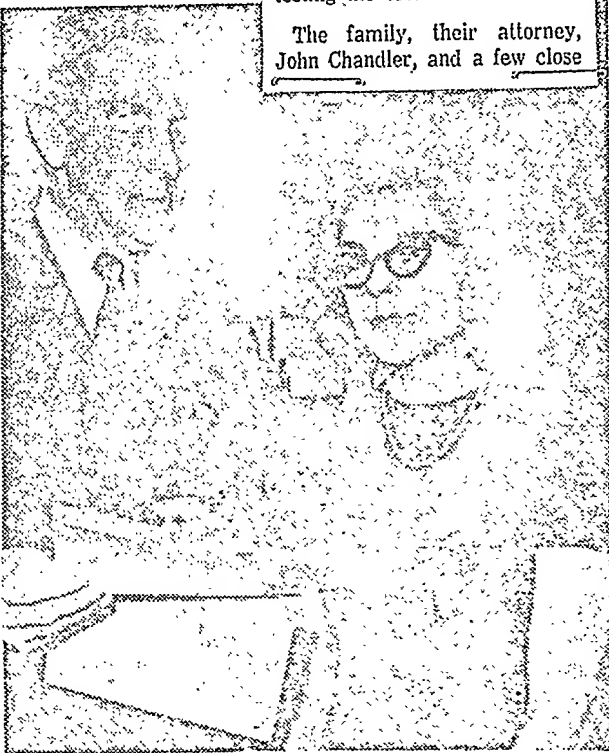

The family, their attorney, John Chandler, and a few close friends attended the funeral, held with a single blanket of flowers over a closed casket.

Rees was not present.

The Rev. John Morrison, pastor of the Gilmanton Federated Churches, who officiated at the wedding of Mrs. Metalious' daughter, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, conducted the service.

Apparently deferring as much as possible to the wishes of the controversial author—who wanted her body given to science without any ritual whatever—he did not mention her by name.

ENCLOSURE

The Rev. Mr. Morrison read from the Book of Psalms and the New Testament, and gave prayers taken from the ritual of the church. "The service," he said, "was designed to give hope and courage to the family."

The pastor, who knew Mrs. Metalious only slightly, said he was not embarrassed to preach at a funeral forbidden by the deceased author, "because all have a right to a religious service."

The organist, Elwin Atwood Sherman, played "Communion" by Mattioli, "Andante Religioso" by Deshayes, "Contemplation" by Blake, "Pastorale" by Roff, "Arioso" by Richolson, and "La Priere" by Delibes.

The service took 15 minutes. It was brief, at the request of the family.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS

The body was taken to the tomb at Union Cemetery, to await burial in Smith Meeting House Cemetery, Gilmanton, the tiny community where Mrs. Metalious wrote her best-selling books.

In the high court session during the morning Atty. John Holland of Manchester, representing Rees, told the justices:

"It is very clear she desired no funeral. I have an obligation to carry out the terms of her will."

Chandler held: "We completely deny the validity of this will, and the family wishes the services be held. No substantial injury will be done . . ."

After 26 minutes of deliberation the court, Chief Justice Frank A. R. Kenison presiding, ruled for the family.

Mrs. Metalious had directed her body be given to Dartmouth or Harvard's medical schools, and her eyes to the Boston Eye Bank. The only part of her request to be honored was that concerning her eyes. The medical schools declined to enter the controversy.

Disposition of her estate promises to be as stormy as was much of her life. A will executed in 1959 left her estate to her three children and directed George Metalious be guardian of any minor children on her death. The family contends this will is operative.

DISPUTE OVER TAXES

The will favoring Rees, and making him Mrs. Metalious' executor, was filed Wednesday in Belknap County Probate Court.

Chandler said his appeal for "re-examination" of the will is slated for hearing March 25 in that court. He told the court he "couldn't place any trust" in Rees, and the court declined to name the British journalist as executor.

The Metalious estate, although substantial, may shrink by $168,000 within the year. Atty. Burton said the Internal Revenue Service is disputing deductions taken on transactions made in 1953, when royalties from "Peyton Place" were heavy.

The case is expected to be heard this year in U. S. tax court.

English Wife of Metalious Heir 'Bewildest'

★ REES MAR 1, 1964

A press conference Wednesday night did little to clear the mystery. Rees admitted Saturday that several statements he made then were false.

Rees was relaxed in his small but posh apartment in the swank Charles River Development.

On a low table was a gold-framed photograph of Mrs. Metalious. On a shelf across the room was a photograph of her grandmother.

Also evident were photographs of the wife and five children he has denied having.

Rees has shaved off the jaunty beard and mustaches which gave him a worldly-wise, soldier of fortune look four days ago. Saturday he looked like a man who was thinking of growing a beard.

Rees hasn't worked since coming to this country over a year ago. He says he is living on a stake given him by a British banker, plus his savings.

At his Wednesday press conference the Englishman characterized himself as a journalist who has worked the world over. Somewhat sheepishly, he admitted this was untrue. Rees has also represented himself as a free-lance writer and author. He claimed that he and Mrs. Metalious were collaborating on a novel.

In a resume submitted when he was applying for a job here in April he submitted a long list of publications here and abroad which he claimed has printed his articles.

Many of these entries were untrue, he said Saturday. He would not, however, comment further on his claim to have been collaborating with Mrs. Metalious.

He also admitted that statements that he had served seven years in the Royal Air Force, entering as a private and being discharged as a flight lieutenant, were false, although he had served for a shorter time with the R.A.F.

Last week Rees claimed he was single. It was learned, however, that he had a wife, Anthea, and five children in England. He said Saturday he had called his wife to tell of the bequest. She said it "was a complete surprise," that she was "bewildered" when her husband told her of the will.

Wife Taken Aback

Mrs. Rees said she knew of her husband's friendship with Grace Metalious but nevertheless was taken aback when she learned he had been named sole beneficiary.

She said they had made no plans for her to join her husband here or for him to return to England.

She and her five children live in a London suburb. She works part time "as a hobby," she said.

In his apartment overlooking the Charles River Rees repeated his avowal that the friendship between him and Mrs. Metalious was platonic.

"When she died all I could think of was that I had lost a very close friend," he said.

He refused comment on reports that he had introduced Mrs. Metalious as his fiancée.

Nor would Rees comment on a reported link with a Somerville girl now living in Ohio. He used her car for several months here.

In an earlier will Mrs. Metalious left her estate in trust for her three children, Martha, now Mrs. Edward Dupuis, 22, of Laconia, N.H.; Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 12.

Named Guardian

The will also directed that George Metalious, a high school guidance counselor in Ludlow, Vt., serve as their guardian.

Metalious announced last week that he married Grace for a second time "out of state" in 1960 and that he could produce papers to prove they were husband and wife at the time of her death.

The second will directed Rees to see to it that the dren "never wanted for anything."

He said Saturday he has not yet talked to the children. "But I will carry out Mrs. Metalious's wishes. She had every confidence that I would look after the children."

Metalious and the three children are contesting the death-bed will.

Asked his reaction to this, Rees stated:

Rees, however, has decided to stop running.

He has been surrounded in mystery since it was made public that Mrs. Metalious, author of the sex-and-sin best-seller, "Peyton Place," drew up a new will shortly before her death here Tuesday naming him sole beneficiary to her $220,000 fortune.

Contacted in England by the Globe Saturday, his 37-year-old wife, mother of their five children, said she was "bewildered" when told of the bequest.

Metalious Heir Married

Metalious Heir Is Married

By MARY TIERNEY

Word from London that John Rees, beneficiary of Grace Metalious' quarter-million dollar estate, is married and the father of five children, contradicts what he told reporters in Boston.

FEB 28 1968

At a press conference Wednesday night at the Beacon St. office of Atty. John F. Cremens, Rees was asked:

"Have you ever been married?"

He answered: "Never".

Rees also told reporters he had worked on the London Daily Mirror as a reporter and later in an administrative capacity.

However, a statement issued by the Mirror yesterday said Rees had never worked there in an editorial capacity.

Answering questions about his relationship with Grace Metalious, Rees said he lived on money of his own.

"I told a bank manager in London of my ideas and plans in America, and he extended me money," he said.

On the subject of marriage, Rees told reporters he had never proposed marriage to Grace Metalious.

"Grace always said she didn't want to be a three time loser. Any fool can get married."

OFTEN GUEST OF
MRS. METALIOUS

He said that he had often been a guest at the Metalious New Hampshire home, but visited Boston every two or three days a week.

Before coming to New England, Rees said he had lived in Ohio and "where fancy took me."

When asked whether he had any family in England or Wales, he explained that his parents and brothers were dead.

However, reports from London last night said his wife, Mrs. Anthia Rees, was "stunned" to learn that her husband had been named heir to the Metalious estate.

The 37-year-old Mrs. Rees said she was waiting for a phone call from her husband to "tell me all about it."

Mrs. Rees was quoted as saying: "John went to America in February, 1962, to take a job on a newspaper. His idea was to get established and save enough money for us to join him.

"We planned to go last summer, but things fell through.

WORKED ON TV SCRIPTS

"He met Mrs. Metalious when his paper sent him to interview her six months ago. Since then they have worked together writing TV scripts."

Mrs. Rees said her husband wrote her nearly every day, telephoned every few weeks and paid money regularly into a London Bank for her.

She said they met while he was serving in the Royal Air Force and were married 15 years ago.

Their five children are, Christopher, 14, David, 10, Caroline and Miranda, eight-year-old twins, and Anthony, 4.

Mrs. Metalious, author of the best selling novel, "Peyton Place" and other books, died at the Beth Israel Hospital Tuesday of a chronic liver ailment.

The day before, she made out a deathbed will, naming Rees as sole beneficiary. The will left nothing to her estranged husband, George, and their

Kids Steal, Crash Dead Author's Car

A station wagon owned by author Grace Metalious, who died Tuesday, was stolen from a Somerville garage and crashed into two parked cars in Somerville last night.

The late-model vehicle was taken from the New Method Auto Body Shop on 507 Mystic Ave., Somerville. The crash occurred on Edgar St. at 7:40 p.m.

Witnesses said they saw four teen-agers running away. The car was in the shop for repairs.

Three children, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, 20, Christopher, 17 and Cynthia, 13

Her family is contesting the death-bed will, claiming an earlier one, establishing a trust fund for the children, should be ruled valid.

In the meantime, the family won its first legal battle yesterday, winning the right to conduct funeral services for the authoress, despite instructions in her will that no services were to be held.

Her wish to have her body given either to the Harvard University or Dartmouth College medical schools also went unfulfilled. The schools refused to accept the body, once the objections of Mrs. Metalious' family became known.

Wife Glad Rees Gave Up Grace Metalious Money

MAR 2 1964

John Rees' wife said today from their home in Harlow, England, that she was glad her husband gave up his claim to author Grace Metalious' fortune, estimated from nothing to $1 million.

She said her husband phoned her from New York City last night to inform her that he had renounced the inheritance in favor of the three Metalious children.

"It's a case of from rags to riches and back again in three days for us," the mother of five said.

Rees left his family a year ago and came to this country. His wife said their plan was that she and the children join him here after he was established.

Six months ago, he began writing of Mrs. Metalious in his letters home.

Last Tuesday, when the author of the spicy best-seller "Peyton Place" died at Beth Israel Hospital of a liver ailment, it was disclosed that a mysterious John Rees was her heir.

The will was written and witnessed in her hospital room. A previous testament left her estate to her three children of her first marriage.

She was 39 when she died.

Rees, 37, a self-styled journalist, was an unknown. It took several days for newsmen to locate him in Boston's West End.

Court action was threatened by the Metalious children.

Mrs. Rees disclosed that she hoped to meet with her husband in the near future "discuss things."

"I am glad he has given up the money so that now we can carry on in peace," she said.

Rees told the Globe by phone last night that he felt "the best interests of the children (Metalious) will be served by avoiding a legal fight."

His formal decision was received by Judge Bernard I. Snierston of Laconia, N.H., their counsel Sunday.

Thrice-wed Mrs. Metalious left all to Rees without legal stipulation of provisions for her children.

Snierston said later that Rees' action was entirely voluntary "without any influence on my part. Under this new agreement, nothing will be paid to Rees."

The document Rees gave to his attorney stated as follows:

"I, John Rees, residing at 1 Emerson place, Boston, hereby renounce any and all interest in the estate of Grace Metalious under her will which she executed on or about Feb. 24, 1964. I do this of my own volition and for no other reason but to protect her children and to spare them the unhappiness of being involved in a law suit.

"It is my desire, however, as far as it may be lawful and practicable in the administration of the estate, to incorporate certain directions which correspond to her oral and verbal wishes expressed to me. The house at Gilmanton not be sold, but maintained as an available residence for her youngest daughter, Cynthia, as well as the other children should the occasion or necessity arise.

"Further, the Wedgewood china and silver be preserved intact; that her diamond ring and mink stole be bequeathed to her eldest daughter, Marsha, and her cars to her son, Christopher; and that certain other bequests be made which I will fully enumerate after I have had the opportunity of examining my notes made last November and further refreshed my recollection.

"I further declare my purpose to assign to the estate of Grace Metalious for the benefit of her children one half of all my earnings in the future from writings relating to my friendship, inspiration and collaboration with Grace as a testimonial of my respect and affection. This will comprehend any other money that I may earn by the sale of film rights, etc."

hour after it ploved into two parked cars on Edgar ave., Somerville, and four youths were seen fleeing the scene.

Thurrott told the Record American he knew Rees for about a year and that he met Mrs. Metalious about a month ago, but neither he nor his wife associated her with the well known author.

"The only comment my wife, who is a nurse, made after meeting Mrs. Metalious, was that she was a sick woman, that her color was bad," Thurrott said.

The garageman said Rees introduced Mrs. Metalious as "my fiancée," when he drove up about a month ago.

Thurrott said he met Rees when he was involved in a minor rear-end collision with the Mercedes and offered to fix it.

"He seemed like a nice fellow. He was clean shaven, said he roomed in Somerville and worked for a British newspaper and was appreciative of my offer to fix his car," Thurrott said.

Thurrott said when he saw Rees last, Rees told him he was covering the Goldwater campaign in New Hampshire for the Daily Mirror.

"Mrs Metalious' car had a dented fender and I told Rees to come back after we received an insurance estimate and I would fix it," Thurrott

Rees Linked to Somerville Woman

An aura of mystery Friday enveloped John Rees, the 37-year-old self-styled British journalist who was chosen by Peyton Place author Grace Metalious in her dying moments as the sole heir of her fortune.

Rees, unavailable for comment, was known to have:

—Lived a year ago at the home of a Somerville woman who at the time was working in Cleveland.

—Visited the woman in Cleveland about once every three weeks.

—Given stories to police, newspaper reporters and others which have not checked out.

—Left a wife and five children in Harefield, Harlow, Essex, a suburb 16 miles out of London, England, with whom he has kept contact.

—Introduced Mrs. Metalious as his "fiancee," although he told a press conference he had never proposed marriage to the author who died Tuesday at Beth Israel Hospital of a chronic kidney ailment.

UNKNOWN TO JOURNAL

Among the stories Rees has given out is one that he was working for the London Mirror—either as a regular employee or as a freelancer.

The Mirror said this is not so; that his only connection with the paper was five years ago when he was a sort of liaison man between contractors and the publishing firm during the construction of their new plant.

When he arrived in Boston he registered with the Newspaper Guild—the editorial workers union—as an employee of the Wall Street Journal.

A representative of the Journal said he was unknown at that paper.

Rees' connection with the Somerville woman led him into a minor brush with the law in the city.

He had drawn the notice of Patrolman John McCune because he was driving with an Ohio registration around town for some time. So, in March of last year, McCune stopped Rees—who was clean-shaven at that time, his luxuriant beard having sprouted since.

When McCune asked for license and registration Rees became indignant, according to the officer.

"He wanted to know what law he had violated and said I had no right to stop him," McCune said.

"He finally showed men an International License with an English address. The car was registered to a woman in Cleveland, O.," McCune said.

Rees told McCune he was living at the woman's Somerville home, that she allowed him to borrow the Mercedes Benz and that he drove it to the Ohio city to visit her about once every three weeks.

"He told me he was working for the British Syndicated News as a correspondent," McCune said. "The British consul in Boston said there was no such outfit in Boston or New York."

Rees apparently took strong exception to McCune's actions. He telephoned Somerville Mayor Lawrence Bretta to complain. The mayor referred him to Police Chief Thomas O'Brien.

The net result was that O'Brien complimented McCune on his good work and advised him to check out Rees.

McCune stopped Rees the next day and asked to see his British operator's license which was produced. The patrolman then checked with the British consul and learned of the rather nebulous character of Rees' employment connection and that he was in this country on a permanent basis, entering under the English quota.

GRACE LOOKED SICK

Somerville police were again involved with Grace Metalious, even after her death. Thursday night her 1963 Buick LeSabre station wagon was stolen from the New Method Auto Body, a garage at 507 Mystic ave., Somerville, owned by George Thurrott.

It was recovered within an hour after it plowed into two parked cars on Edgar ave., Somerville, and four youths were seen fleeing the scene.

Thurrott told the Record American he knew Rees for about a year and that he met Mrs. Metalious about a month ago, but neither he nor his wife associated her with the well known author.

"The only comment my wife, who is a nurse, made after meeting Mrs. Metalious, was that she was a sick woman, that her color was bad," Thurrott said.

said. "He brought it in last Tuesday morning and left it in the yard."

"He left no address and I didn't realize who Mrs. Metalious was until I saw it in the newspapers," Thurrott added.

HE HAD MONEY

Over in England, Mrs. Anthea Rees, 37, confirmed that her husband, John, had gone to America in February, 1962, to take a "job on a newspaper."

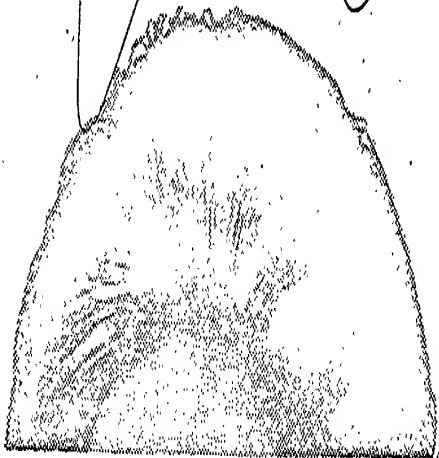

She said John telephoned her regularly every two weeks and "wrote nearly every day." She said he deposited money for her in a London bank at regular intervals.

The Metalious family has challenged the deathbed will, which leaves everything to Rees with the provision he provide for the three Metalious children, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, 20, Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 13.

Rees informed the custodian of the apartment house at 1 Emerson pl., where he has an apartment that he would be away for a couple of days. He said he expected a delivery of furniture and asked that the custodian open the apartment when it arrived.

nounce my claim to any of the estate."

Rees also disclosed that he will turn over to the Metalious children one half of all his future earnings resulting from the "friendship, inspiration or collaboration with Grace as a testimony of my respect and affection for her."

He plans to return to Boston on Tuesday. At the death bed signing, Mrs. Metalious was firm in her insistence that her entire estate go to her friend without any legal obligation on his part to provide for the children.

WITNESSED WILL

Herman N. Krupp, 63, of 48 Mascot st., Dorchester, a draftsman at the Watertown Arsenal, was asked to witness the will in the hospital room. He happened to be visiting his daughter in a nearby room and was unaware of the importance of his role.

Krupp told the Record American, Atty. Cremens came into the room where he and his wife were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Miriam Bennett, in Room 811.

"He asked if one of us would act as a witness to a will which was being changed."

"I said I would and walked down the hall two doors to a room with 'Grace Rees' on the name card."

"This was the same woman who had been in the semi-private room with my daughter for several days before she was moved to Room 816 on the day of the will signing, the day before she died."

"I walked into the room. She was lying in the bed looking very, very sick. Her face was pale, but she appeared alert and was receiving intravenous feedings."

"This made her uncomfortable when the time came to sign the will, which she did using Mr. Cremens' briefcase to write on."

REES WAS OUTSIDE

"Mr. Rees at no time was in the room. He was directly outside. He appeared nervous and paced the floor. He had visited Mrs. Metalious when she shared the room with my daughter and was very attentive."

"Up to the moment I was introduced to her I thought Mrs. Metalious was Mrs. Rees. Even then I did not immediately connect her with the author of 'Peyton Place,' which I had read and with my wife had seen the movie."

"Mr. Cremens read the will aloud in my presence," Krupp said. Mrs. Metalious nodded to each article.

"When he came to the paragraph which specified that the money was to go to John Rees and none to the children, I was amazed, but felt this was her business."

"Mr. Cremens made a special point of asking her if she realized that Rees was not compelled to take care of the children according to the terms of the will."

"Mrs. Metalious nodded acknowledgment and seemed to be agreeable to everything."

In a surprise action, John Rees, close friend of the late authoress, Grace Metalious, yesterday renounced any claim on her estate and relinquished it to her three children. The unexpected move was confirmed by Judge Bernard

I. Snierston, of Laconia, N. H., counsel for the children. Judge Snierston said: "Rees called me from New York at noon Sunday to tell me he is renouncing the estate in favor of the children."

"He (Rees) felt that this was the right thing to do, and, as far as I am concerned he did it without hope of any reward. It was purely a voluntary thing on his part."

Rees was left the entire estate in a death-bed will signed by Mrs. Metalious last Monday night at Beth Israel Hospital. She succumbed the following day of a chronic liver ailment.

The estate has been variously estimated at from $1,300,000 down to $250,000. A $170,000 federal tax suit was pending against the novelist at the time of her death.

EARLIER WILL

Movie rights alone to "Peyton Place," her most successful novel, brought her a half million dollars. Her last book "No Adam in Eden" brought a similar figure, and the now ended controversy over the will is expected to result in increases in the sale of her books.

Portrayed as a British mystery man throughout the rapid-fire proceedings following her death, Rees phoned Judge Snierston from the home of New York Atty. Charles Rothenberg, who has been handling his business interests.

Judge Snierston said the call came as a "surprise" but that he had been in contact with Rees before.

"I believe it's a sincere thing on his part and I think it clears up the whole matter. It's all a formality now."

He said he expected that the present executors, Atty. John F. Cremens, of Cambridge, and Atty. John S. Holland, of Manchester, N. H., now would resign and he would go ahead with provisions of an earlier will which left the estate in trust for her children in Laconia, Mrs. Edward Dupuis, 22, Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 12, until all reach 25.

The authoress' estranged husband George Metalious, who contested the will on behalf of himself and his children, also will sign over his interests to the children. Snierston disclosed.

"I am delighted the money will not be used for a long court battle over the estate and will benefit the children," the judge declared. He said he could not place a figure on the value of the estate and because of certain liens which must be settled "it may turn out to be nothing."

Contacted in New York, Rees stated: "It was always my intent to give the estate to the children. With a legal battle in sight I decided not to delay any longer and flew here to discuss the will with Atty. Rothenberg, who handled Mrs. Metalious' New York legal affairs."

AVOID SUIT

"It was my desire to spare the Metalious children the unhappiness of being involved in a law suit. I stand ready to execute any and all instruments and documents necessary to re-

Metalious' Legatee Working in Marblehead

By JEREMIAH V. MURPHY

MARBLEHEAD—John Rees, the British writer to whom Grace Metalious left her entire estate in a deathbed will last year, is working here as a nursing home orderly.

Rees, 33, began working for the Devereux Nursing Home at 39 Lafayette st. three months ago after applying for a job, a nursing home official said.

Mrs. Metalious, author of the sex-and-sin best seller "Peyton Place," named Rees as her sole beneficiary. He had known her several months.

The estate originally was expected to exceed one half million dollars. But a petition seeks to have the estate declared insolvent.

Assets have been listed at $87,690 and liabilities of $211,153.

Rees was described by staff members as a "terrific worker and very jovial."

Until moving to Lynn several months ago, Rees lived in a luxury apartment overlooking the Charles River in Boston.

Rees declined to comment Thursday other than to say, "I've had enough publicity." When he applied for the job here he identified himself as a writer.

"We think the world of him here," a fellow worker said. "He's introduced us to his young wife and she is very nice, too."

Last year Rees told newsmen he was single, but later admitted having a wife and five children living in England.

Heir Rees Has Wife, 5 Children in England

LONDON (Reuters) — Bearded Welsh journalist John Rees, named heir to author Grace Metalious' estate has a wife and five children in England, it was reported Thursday.

Mrs. Anthea Rees, 37, was quoted by the Daily Mail as saying she was waiting for a phone call from her husband, "to tell me all about it."

She said her husband left for the United States in February, 1963 and she heard by letter from him that he met Grace Metalious.

Mrs. Rees and her children—three boys and two girls ranging in age from 4 to 14—live in Harfield, Harlow, Essex, just north of here.

She said her husband left to take a newspaper job in the United States.

His idea was to get established and save enough money for us to join him," she told a reporter for the Daily Mirror.

"We planned to go out last Summer, but things fell through," she said.

Mrs. Rees said her husband wrote nearly every day and phoned every two weeks.

"I was stunned when I heard John had been left a fortune. The first I knew about it was when I read it in the papers," she said.

"He met Mrs. Metalious when his paper sent him to interview her six months ago. Since then they have worked together writing TV scripts."

She said she met her husband, 37, while he was in the Royal Air Force. They have been married 15 years.

Rees Drops All Claims To Metalious Estate

The story-telling business agent of author Grace Metalious has dropped all his claims to her estate.

John Rees has withdrawn in favor of the late author's three children, Mrs. Marsha Dupuis, 22; Christopher, 17, and Cynthia, 13.

WAS NAMED AS 2 1964
SOLE HEIR

Rees' action stopped a legal suit brought by Mrs. Metalious' first husband, George Metalious, in behalf of the children.

Mrs. Metalious, 39, had named Rees as her sole heir before she died last Tuesday of a liver ailment and a massive cerebral hemorrhage in Beth Israel Hospital.

Rees yesterday telephoned Municipal Judge Bernard I. Snierson of Laconia, N. H., the children's lawyer, and told him he was withdrawing all claims to the estate.

Snierson said Rees' action was purely voluntary—it was done, as lawyers say, with "no hope of reward, no fear of reprisal . . ."

Rees, in his statement, said he did it only "to protect her children and to spare them the unhappiness of being involved in a law suit."

Snierson said he was grateful to Rees for withdrawing because it meant the author's estate would not be eaten up by legal fees and court costs.

"I'm a lawyer, but I don't want that kind of money," said Snierson. He said he was "delighted" that the "money will go to the children as Mrs. Metalious always wanted."

HARLOW, England—The wife of Rees, said she is sure he has done the right thing in renouncing the inheritance.

Mrs. Anthea Rees, 37-year-old mother of five, said her husband called her last night to tell her he was waiving all claim to the novelist's estate.

"For us it is a case of from rags to riches and back again in three days," said Mrs. Rees. "I'm sure he is doing the right thing, but it was nice for a while to be the wife of a dollar millionaire."

"I knew he was very friendly with Grace. He used to mention her in his weekly letter, but he really had no idea anything like this was going to happen."

Rees, who had been associated with Mrs. Metalious as a business agent since October, had told newsmen conflicting stories about himself.

He said he was a Welshman who had been employed by the London Daily Mirror as a reporter, that he was a bachelor, and that he had been a lieutenant in the RAF.

Investigation disclosed that he was an Englishman, that he had worked only briefly for the Mirror as a minor executive, that he had a wife and three children in England, and that he had been an enlisted man in the RAF.

'Peace Patrol' Plan Draws Hughes' Ire

By JEAN JOYCE

A plan to make leaders of militant white and Negro organizations paid directors of a 300-man "Community Peace Patrol" in Newark has been given a cool reception.

The proposal, quietly submitted to the Department of Justice April 19, is understood to have met with interest but with opposition there. It is opposed vehemently by Gov. Hughes.

The "project directors" would be Anthony Imperiale, president of the North Ward Citizens Committee, a white militant group, and Brother Kamiel Wadud of the United Brothers of Newark, a black militant organization. Imperiale and Wadud, two of four to sign the preliminary proposal, would be paid $12,000 each.

Police Director Dominick Spina and John Rees, president of National Goals Inc., also signed the proposal, which calls for $743,741.50 in federal funds to administer and outfit the vigilante group with uniforms, helmets, walkie-talkie radios, tape recorders, cameras, patrol cars and other equipment. It also would provide for four offices and two warehouses.

The proposal is for one year with equipment costs to run $138,006 and operating costs, mostly salaries, to total $605,735.50.

Spina is listed under "police consultants and staff" in the brochure of National Goals Inc., a "law enforcement project group" which operates with a full-time staff of five from the Hallmark House apartments, 10 Hill St.

Rees submitted the preliminary plan to the Department of Justice and 11 days later, Courtney Evans, acting director of the department's Office of Law Enforcement, replied: "We do not have the funds to support such a project."

"Interesting" Project

Evans did, however, term the project "most interesting" and told Rees that Paul Estaver, a department field representative, would contact him to discuss it.

While there is no record of the proposal in the City Clerk's Office, Mayor Hugh Addonizio reportedly has been reviewing it with some favor. Donald Malafrente, an aide to the mayor, said that while the administration was not directly involved in the preparation of the proposal, it appeared that it would "formalize and moderate" relations between militant groups and the police.

"This was a positive response to community demands that the administration bring extremist groups together," said Malafrente. "It also dispels the notion that they are ready to kill each other."

Gov. Hughes had a different reaction. The governor, who apparently has been aware of the plan for some time, said that he had discussed it with Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and had let him know of his "strong objection to it."

Hughes described the proposal as "a brainstorm that contains the seeds of very serious trouble" and added: "It involved well known militants and extremists joined, perhaps unwittingly, by the police director of the City of Newark."

The proposal reportedly emanated from a series of private meetings in Spina's office, beginning April 4, with black and white militants. The proposal is dated April 18, but May 17 Spina issued an order forbidding members of the Police Department to join extremist groups or participate in their activities.

Hughes' View

In decrying the plan, Gov. Hughes declared: "I agree wholeheartedly with Atty. Gen. Clark that there should be no encouragement whatever for the alarming tendency of some private citizens, acting as vigilantes, to attempt to exercise police powers—to do so without legal authority and with no obligation to the public whatever.

"In the words of Atty. Gen. Clark, the protection of the public should be carried out by public officials, including legally authorized police. I agree with Atty. Gen. Clark that it would be irresponsible and unwise to place the protection of the public in private hands."

Contending that the plan "smacks of para-militarism," Hughes criticized the Legislature for "the unconscionable and incomprehensible delay in passing the para-military bill." He asked for emergency measures.

In support of the governor, U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr. said he would not endorse the proposal, claiming he was opposed to any type of vigilante group.

The vigilante proposal, which is prefaced with emphasis on "the summer months and the threat of violence and disorder," calls for a systematic patrol, void of official law enforcement duties or powers of arrest. Police superior officers and patrolmen would be assigned to the patrol as liaison personnel.

Seven-Day Patrols

Twenty patrol cars would be leased for 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. patrols seven days a week. They would be equipped with two-way radios for communicating with general headquarters—one of four storefront offices. Negro neighborhoods would be patrolled by Negroes and white neighborhoods by whites, with two of each race in integrated neighborhoods.

Patrolmen would receive $1.75 per hour and their supervisors $2.50 an hour. Three administrators each would receive $3 per hour. Uniforms would be provided—$8,750 for jumpsuits and $5,250 for helmet liners.

Patrolmen would be selected by the North Ward Citizens Committee and the United Brothers, who would provide representation also from the Spanish-speaking community. The proposal states: "While no background check will be made on candidates, an effort will be made to recruit only those whose character and motivations are of the highest quality."

The plan explains that "considerable attention will be given to the applicants' physical condition, and to this end a physical examination will be required and provided as part of the program." It is listed as a $3,335 expense.

Additional criteria "should be concerned with the applicants' educational attainments, his occupational status and his place of residence," according to the plan.

Training Plan

Training for the program would be provided by National Goals Inc., described in the preliminary plan as "a fully integrated non-profit organization specializing in the area of education, training and law enforcement." The plan also describes it as "the firm selected by both participating organizations as the most qualified to provide training for this program."

A spokesman for the North Ward Citizens Committee said the actual plan was prepared by Rees and that it was signed in his office. The budget provides for $23,310 for "seven days of intensive classroom and field exercises."

National Goals Inc. would be paid another $36,000 for weekly one-day seminars for the remainder of the program. The firm budgeted another $10,000 for what is described as "development of training materials, visual aids, etc."

Spina and Imperiale were not available last night for comment. Rees reportedly was on the West Coast and will be there until next week.

Wadud, asked how his group and Imperiale's would get along with each other, said: "Personally I don't have any bones to pick with Tony. We both come from the same gutters."

"I'm just interested in our people . . . not getting them caught up in this genocidal thing. Imperiale never professed any love for the black man, but maybe (by working together) we can take the blood thing out of it."

Explains Patrols

Wadud explained that under the proposal, black and white militants would ride in the same cars in some "fringe areas" of the city, such as Vailsburg or along Bloomfield or Chancellor Avenues. But he definitely ruled out any white patrols in the heavily Negro Central Ward.

He said the patrols would be unarmed. "But they would be able to defend themselves," he added. "White people can't police black people anymore. We know how to talk to our people. We need to govern our own. If it's a black situation, let black people handle it."

Wadud said that if any trouble erupted, the patrolmen immediately would call for help over their radios. "Maybe this could even be made into a farm system for the Police Department," he added.

National Goals Inc. was suggested earlier this year by Sheriff Ralph D'Ambola as the firm to provide police training for his staff. The Board of Freeholders rejected the proposal in favor of the State Police training program.

The outfit, however, did present an application for a federal grant for the East Orange Police Department community relations program. A spokesman there, who said the grant was for about $15,000, said National Goals acted "as overseer for seminars, problems and classes." Spina reportedly was one of the paid speakers.

Office Space Rented

The National Goals office space at the Hallmark House is rented under the name of Peter Mercurio, who described himself as a consultant and one of the five full-time staff members.

Although the advertising pamphlet of the company lists Washington, New York and Newark offices, Newark is the apparent headquarters. Mercurio said the firm "gave up" the Washington space, and the New York number is a law firm which Mercurio said "takes calls." The firm is incorporated in New York, but not registered in New Jersey.

Four years ago, Rees, the firm president, was named the sole beneficiary in the deathbed will of "Peyton Place" author Grace Metalious. An Englishman described then as Mrs. Metalious

Spina Patrol Switch Gets Varied Reaction

By JEAN JOYCE

A surprise reversal yesterday by Police Director Dominick A. Spina on the 300-man "Community Peace Patrol" proposed by him and three others has met with both rage and indifference.

Anthony Imperiale, president of the North Ward Citizens Committee, a white militant organization, said the reversal was "hypocritical" and that he intended "to confront Spina and find out why he changed his mind." Imperiale was one of four who signed the preliminary plan with Spina.

Another signer, Brother Kamel Wadud, who said he had been erroneously identified in the proposal as representing the United Brothers of Newark, a black militant organization, simply said of Spina's reversal: "Maybe he had something to sour on it for." Wadud, who identified himself as a Hermetic Arab-American, said he had listed his affiliation as the Central Ward Citizens Committee.

Of the proposal, Wadud maintained: "It never was finalized, it could have undergone a lot of changes — it was subject to change and approval." He said he had told John Rees, president of National Goals, Inc., who prepared the report and was the other signer, that he was not in agreement with all phases of the report as submitted to the Department of Justice.

Cites Salary

As an example, Wadud said he "never would have taken" the $12,000 salary proposed for him and Imperiale to act as "project directors" of the patrol. The salaries were part of the estimated $743,741.50 cost of the project, to be federally financed.

"It wasn't a final thing that was submitted—it was a good move to take the heat off," said Wadud. "There were pressures at the time."

The report was submitted quietly to the Department of Justice April 19 by Rees, who budgeted $59,310 for National Goals to provide patrol training and seminars and another $10,000 for training materials. National Goals was described in the proposal as "a fully integrated nonprofit organization specializing in the area of education, training and law enforcement."

It was reported yesterday that Rees was in Washington and that he could not be contacted there. Peter Mercurio, a consultant for National Goals, said of the proposal: "At the time, we all thought it was a good idea—some still do." He charged that one reason the city administration did not back the plan was that "the money wasn't going to be controlled on a local level."

Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio maintained yesterday that he never had seen the proposal, but that he was "in the process of waiting to review it." Earlier, an aide in his office had indicated the mayor generally was in favor of the plan.

To Talk With Spina

Addonizio said he thought Spina had acted unwisely in linking himself with the proposal and that he planned to discuss the matter soon with the police director "so as to have a clear understanding in the future."

Declaring "extremism—black or white—is not the answer to the problems in Newark," Addonizio said that if Spina's intent was to deal with extremists regarding any problems in the city, "I don't approve of it."

"The mayor is two-faced," Imperiale charged following Spina's reversal yesterday. Imperiale termed Spina's action "a shocker" and promised to confront the police director for an explanation.

"They say they want unity, but it is beyond my comprehension just what they want," Imperiale said. The white militant, claiming he had always "preached law and order," said he was "getting a little tired of getting the short end of the stick."

Explaining he had believed the proposal would be beneficial to teen-agers in the North Ward, Imperiale expressed resentment that the federal government had granted "so many funds to Leroy Jones for hate plays," but had none available for the proposed patrol. "They have now succeeded in making many people feel like second-class citizens," he said.

This approach would place emphasis on state approval.

Municipalities would send proposals to the states, which in turn would forward them to the federal division if they deemed them to be worthwhile.

Skoler said the "watchword" for grants under the new program, which still needs House and Senate approval, would be block grants to states.

Had that plan been in effect when the patrol plan was prepared in April, it might never have gotten to the federal level. Gov. Richard J. Hughes expressed vehement opposition to it, describing it as "a brain-storm that contains the seeds of very serious trouble."

Rap by Governor

The governor said he agreed "wholeheartedly with Atty. Gen. Clark that there should be no encouragement whatever for the alarming tendency of some private citizens, acting as vigilantes, to attempt to exercise police powers—to do so without legal authority and with no obligation to the public whatever."

He added that it "smacks of paramilitarism" and criticized the Legislature for "the unconscionable and incomprehensible delay in passing the paramilitary bill."

Yesterday, Essex County Prosecutor Joseph P. Lordi sent telegrams to the state senatorial delegation from Essex in support of the bill banning paramilitary organizations. In the telegram, Lordi said: "I am investigating organizations in Newark that might come under this description."

The bill would forbid such groups from wearing uniforms or insignia, maintaining patrols, collecting weapons to wage guerrilla warfare or inciting civil disorders.

Under the proposal prepared by Rees, the "patrolmen" would be provided with jumpsuits at a cost of $8,750 and helmet liners at a cost of $5,250. They would not carry weapons, but would take as part of their training "orientation to karate and judo for purpose of self-defense."

Equipment Included

Patrolmen, who would be paid $1.75 an hour, would have 20 patrol cars, walkie-talkies, tape recorders, cameras and other equipment at their disposal. Supervisors would be paid $2.50 an hour, and three administrators each would receive $3 an hour. No background check was to be made on the personnel, according to the proposal, which stated an effort would be made "to recruit only those whose character and motivations are of the highest quality."

In revealing he had divorced himself from the plan, Spina said he had called the Department of Justice some time ago to indicate his loss of enthusiasm. The police director added he had called National Goals to task for using his name in its brochure under "police consultants and staff."

Spina explained he initially had endorsed the plan "because racial hatred was at its height." He said he soon "soured" on it and shortly after that, on May 17, issued an order forbidding Police Department members to join extremist groups or participate in their activities.

Funds Unavailable

Daniel Skoler, deputy director of the Division of Law Enforcement Assistance for the Department of Justice, said the division had committed its $7 million budget for the type of grant sought for the patrol. The division did not comment on whether the plan might have been approved had funds been available, but noted that the division was obligated to review all proposals.

As of today, however, because of the Safe Streets Act just signed by President Johnson, a new approach to such proposals is expected. A plan to authorize a maximum $100 million for grants allocated through a Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is being considered.

[redacted] United States Department of Labor, Room 220, 1030 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey, furnished the following information under oath primarily from his file on contract CEP 67-18 awarded by the Department of Labor to provide employment in expansion of job opportunities for residents of selected high unemployment areas in the City of Newark. In furnishing this information [redacted] made available copies of certain documents heretofore described and emphasized that he had no personal knowledge of the irregularities in this matter. He pointed out that as project officer he is working not only in Newark but in Buffalo, New York, Hoboken, New Jersey and other areas developing and maintaining similar projects. He stated further that the program as established in New Jersey, for the next part, is left to run itself subject to his administrative review as opposed to it being under his constant supervision and control.

[redacted] furnished the following information:

[redacted] advised that the development of possible irregularities in the program was reported to his New York regional office and related primarily to two persons being paid simultaneously by two phases of the same program, which was considered by him to be a "conflict of interest."

Contract CEP 67-18 was granted by the United States Department of Labor, Concentrated Employment Program (CEP) under Title I, part B, Title I, part D and Title II, Section 205 (c) of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 and Title II, Sections 202 and 204 of the Longshore Development and Training Act of 1962 in the total amount of $4,301,747. The contractor was the office of the Mayor, City of Newark, New Jersey, and the United Community Corporation (UCC) as co-sponsor. Mayor HUGH J. ADDONIZIO signed on behalf of the City of Newark and [redacted] signed as Chairman, Board of Trustees on the UCC. Under clause 1, paragraph 1, it states that the contract will be operated through a tri-partite board known as the Total Employment and Manpower, Incorporated (TEAM), equally represented of the City of Newark, UCC and the business community. The Board of Directors of TEAM consists of 15 members made up of five city employees, five UCC employees and five individuals from the business community of Newark. These persons are identified on page 11 of a pamphlet prepared by TEAM. They are identified as follows:

Paragraph 2, clause 1 states that the major objective of the project is to provide employment and substantial expansion of job opportunities for residents of selected high unemployment areas of the City of Newark. More specific aims and objectives are outlined in the contract and sets forth in essence some of the programs through which these objectives and targets were to be accomplished. Among the programs described was one entitled, "New Careers." Under this program the contractor through the City of Newark was to conduct the program in which 250 job opportunities with municipal agencies were to be utilized by placing enrollees from this high unemployment area in job training. The training was to consist of 20 hours of classroom work and 20 hours of on-the-job training in five municipal departments. The departments were;

Hospital

Board of Education

Inspection

In addition to the programs described, the contractor was authorized to subcontract with other groups as required to carry out the objectives of the program. Under this contract, seven subcontracts were awarded by the contractor. Included in these seven subcontracts was one with Training Systems International (TSI) in the amount of $12,100 executed on the 21st day of September, 1967, for the purpose of evaluating and providing the training needed for members of the CEP staff. They were to provide training for approximately 175 staff members in a concentrated two day leadership seminar. TSI is a division of Allied Electronics Corporation of New Jersey, Post Office Box 43, Metuchen, New Jersey.

A 33 page general provision document was made a part of the prime and all subcontracts under this program.

Pursuant to basic Manpower directives the entire program was to be subjected to an audit by an independent Certified Public Accountant (CPA) firm to be selected by the contractor and approved by the administrator's representative. The firm of Silberman and Dodis, CPA, at 615 Nye Avenue, Irvington, New Jersey, was retained in this capacity and on February 13, 1968, submitted a report on the program with recommendations. As a result of the content of this report and discussions with [] of the CPA firm, [] learned of possible conflict of interest whereby [] of the New Careers program, and [] of the New Careers program, were receiving salaries in these capacities and at the same time were being paid for consulting services rendered to (TSI).

Based on these reports and conference, [] authorized the extension of the examination specifically into the areas of the contract involving New Careers and TSI. In a report of the CPA firm dated February 16, 1968, it was reflected that consulting fees in the amount of $4250 were paid by TSI to [] for weeks ending June 11, 1967, through October 29, 1967. It was also pointed out that in his capacity in New Careers, [] was receiving an annual salary of $12,000. He was first paid for the bi-weekly period which ended August 4, 1967.

In a report dated March 14, 1968, the CPA firm reported that TSI subsequently advised that the money paid to [], as mentioned above, and others, was in error in that the work performed by these persons was not in connection with the TEAM subcontract but was for other work of TSI unrelated to this program. It was the determination by the CPA firm of their examination that [] had provided consulting services to TSI on at least three occasions during 1967 and that [] provided consulting services to TSI on a regular basis and these services involved work outside the Newark area.

[] thus concluded that [] was unable to perform his services as [] for New Careers in Newark, New Jersey, while performing consulting services at TSI at geographical locations outside of Newark, New Jersey. In support of their findings, the CPA firm forwarded to [] by letter dated May 24, 1968, a list of air line tickets issued to [] and [] on behalf of TSI by the Middlesex Travel Bureau. These lists incorporated the dates of September 5, 1967, to February 19, 1968, and showed five trips for [] and 21 trips by []. SUBJECT: Newark, New Jersey Concentrated Employment Program (CEP)

Contract Number 67-18, Sponsor TEAM, Inc. and The City of Newark, New Jersey

The following is in answer to questions you raised at our last meeting:

1. TEAM, Inc., on August 17, 1967, entered into a subcontract with Training Systems International (TSI), a division of Applied Electronic Corporation of New Jersey, for the training of staff personnel. This was a cost subcontract, having a ceiling of $12,100. After completion of the training in accordance with subcontract terms, TSI submitted an invoice for the full subcontract amount, $12,100. TEAM requested TSI submit documentation to support the costs invoiced. In reply, TSI submitted statistics for 16 training classes, without giving any detail as to who had conducted the classes, and how much time was spent in preparation of the curriculum.

2. The accounting firm of Dodis and Silberman, retained by TEAM to survey every CEP subcontractor, visited the TSI office to ascertain the validity of the $12,100 invoice. The accounting firm was given a list of consultants used in the TSI program for documentation of its costs. The following New Careers employees were on the listing:

[Redacted] of New Careers and [Redacted] of New Careers.

Also listed was [Redacted] who was retained by TSI as a lawyer. Further correspondence with TSI resulted in TSI confirming that this list was in error and that they did not use these consultants on the TEAM subcontract, and they should therefore be removed from their previous listing.

3. Our review of the foregoing, results in the following conclusions:

(a) [Redacted] of New Careers, did accept consulting assignments from TSI. These assignments were performed while [Redacted] was absent from New Careers, without taking proper leave from N/C.

(b) [redacted] of New Careers, appears to have been a full-time consultant for TSI while serving as the Research Director for New Careers. A review of [redacted] Leave Record did not indicate any time off from New Careers, even though a travel itinerary from the travel agency that handled his account, listed numerous trips away from Newark. [redacted] was hired by [redacted] on the recommendations of the City of Newark, Mayor's office. A review of [redacted] personnel folder listed a former employer as National Goals Inc. [redacted] and [redacted] represented this company on an August 1967 trip to Chicago. Further inquiries revealed that the corporation appears to be non-existent. TSI, in a letter dated 3/6/68, stated that the costs invoiced for the consulting services of [redacted] under the TEAM sub-contract, were in error. The letter was signed by the president of Applied Electronics Corporation of New Jersey, parent company of TSI. [redacted] has resigned his position with New Careers, effective March 8, 1968.

(c) The agreement between [redacted] appears to have been an arms-length transaction not involving New Careers.

[redacted] was unable to demonstrate to us that he has been fulfilling his contractual obligation for legal services with TSI. This fact is not material to our case and should be entirely disregarded since it is a matter concerning [redacted] and TSI. However, we are unable to prove that TSI's invoicing for his services was other than an error on TSI's part. If TSI billed TEAM for the services of [redacted] and [redacted] in error, or with intent to defraud DOL, we were unable to ascertain that the [redacted] were a party to this deceit. Since [redacted] of Applied Electronics Corporation of New Jersey, has given us a sworn affidavit that this bill was in error, we definitely cannot state that the intent of TSI was to defraud DOL.

4. Based on the foregoing, we recommend the following:

(a) That the time spent by [redacted] on consulting assignment, be deducted from his annual leave and that further consulting assignments be discontinued.

(b) We recommend that the salary paid [redacted] as the [redacted] be disallowed, and action taken to recover $7,597.25 for monies paid him for the following reasons:

Time spent by [redacted] as evidenced by the travel itinerary, preclude effective performance in his position as [redacted] of New Careers. The Job Application of [redacted] was not submitted in good faith. The certification required concerning former employment submitted by [redacted] gave National Goals Inc. (NGI), as his former employer. This office has not been able to verify the existence of this company. We note that NGI was the name of the company that [redacted] represented during his visit to Chicago's Penal Authorities in August 1967.

CEP #67-18

(c) We have recommended to the New Careers staff that immediate attention be given to the establishment of a reliable system for controlling attendance of all staff personnel. In connection with this recommendation, we requested that time and attendance records be brought up-to-date and properly maintained. These recommendations have been accepted by the New Careers staff and are currently being implemented.

[redacted]

The records provided by the CPA firm include certification by officials of Applied Electronics Corporation of New Jersey, attesting to their contention that the monies paid to [redacted] and [redacted] and others were not in connection with projects involving their contract with TEAM.

[redacted] records also include a letter from the office of the Mayor of Newark, New Jersey, dated March 6, 1968, advising that instructions had been issued to all employees to sever relationships with any of the consulting firms associated with the TEAM contract.

By letter dated November 14, 1967, [redacted] returned to TSI their invoices bearing 67-10-36 in the amount of $12,100 for services rendered to TEAM. Invoice was returned for lack of supporting data. In this letter the specific supporting data required was not forth to facilitate TSI's compliance. [redacted] advised that as of July 2, 1968, no documents have been received for this invoice and the invoice had not been presented for payment.

[redacted] stated that under the basic contracts it is the right of the administrator's representative to approve or to disapprove certain staff members proposed by the contractor. It is the opinion of the Department of Labor that this may not include the Administrator's representative and the right to fire or to insist upon the discharge of any staff member after the contract has been put into force. Therefore he has not requested the dismissal of [redacted] is presently reviewing a proposed contract for Fiscal 1969 and it is his intention to disapprove [redacted] as a staff member in this program.

In connection with the recommendation made by [redacted] on the recovery of the $7,587.25 for monies paid to [redacted] advised that negotiations are underway with The City of Newark under which it is expected that the Department of Labor will recover this sum from the City of Newark.

[redacted] said there is conducted, from time to time, evaluation surveys of the program by independent firms retained for that purpose. Such surveys were conducted in

7. CEP 67-13. The survey of the New Careers Program, particularly, showed the program was not producing the desired results. No evidence of fraud was discovered in the survey, rather that the program just was not working properly. Sources not disclosed by [] reported that the candidates in the New Careers Program were from a higher educational level than that required by the program; that they were receiving classroom training as required, but in many instances were being utilized by the City administration of Newark in jobs not related to their training.

[] said it would require a larger staff in his office to monitor this program to assure that all phases were progressing according to plan, if it is determined that the sponsors are unable or unwilling to do their jobs in this field.

Rees Wants City Inquiry

B. DOUGLAS ELDRIDGE — Seeley said he provided more training to the manpower staff than was required by the contract, and his service has drawn continuing praise from those he trained.

John Rees, whose work as research director of the city's New Careers program last March, and the U.S. Department of Labor is trying to recover from the city $7,597 paid to Rees in salary. Federal and local officials say Rees' outside consulting work interfered with his supposedly fulltime job.

Rees was forced out of his job as research director of the city's New Careers program last March, and the U.S. Department of Labor is trying to recover from the city $7,597 paid to Rees in salary. Federal and local officials say Rees' outside consulting work interfered with his supposedly fulltime job.

Seeley is also training director of National Goals, Inc., a private consulting firm headed by Rees.

Meanwhile, Donald Madafronte, aide to Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, said local—not federal—officials took the initiative in launching an investigation of Rees' activities, and forcing him off the city payroll. Rees re-

Rees contended yesterday city officials never complained about his performance during seven months with New Careers.

He also charged that Arthur Kaufman, the city's manpower director, knew all about his outside interests, and even accompanied him on a one-day consulting trip to the Chicago House of Delegation last Aug. 17.

Kaufman Cleared

Kaufman, who hired Rees last July and was his supervisor in New Careers, and Rees were both employed as part-time consultants for Applied Electronics Corp. of Metuchen. Kaufman said he has severed all ties with the firm, and the city administration has cleared him of any conflict of interest.

The Labor Department is currently withholding payment of $100,000 to Applied Electronics for training last summer for members of Total Employment and Manpower (TEAM), a federally financed project that includes New Careers.

A Labor Department claim that the firm's services have not been documented was vehemently denied yesterday by Howard Seeley, a consultant for Applied Electronics.

signed March 8 at Malafronte's request.

Malafronte said auditors retained by the city and the United Community Corp., co-sponsors of TEAM, raised the first questions about Rees' connection with Applied Electronics while he was working for the city. The Labor Department was later advised of the situation, Malafronte said.

City Business Administrator Ferdinand J. Biunno said he is still checking the amount of time devoted to the New Careers job by Rees, before determining how much to repay the Labor Department. Biunno said he is considering efforts to recover some of the money from Rees.

Discusses Services

Rees — a 43-year-old Briton who describes himself as "a professional generalist" and "freelance consultant"—discussed his services to the city yesterday in his three-room apartment at 10 Hill St., which is also the only office of National Goals. The sparse furnishings include two desks, one filing cabinet and a copying machine.

Rees admitted he spent only three or four hours a week on New Career projects, but claimed the rest of his time was devoted to "related" programs, particularly in the Newark Police Department.

Rees yesterday released a copy of his letter of resignation to Malafronte, which said in part:

"I would also draw your attention to the fact that my close working relationship with the Applied Electronics Corp. was brought, at my request, to the attention of the mayor, both orally and in a letter from Mr. Warren Wilentz when he commended this company as a reputable contractor and suggested their and my involvement in a research project for the city."

Malafronte Comment

Malafronte said the mayor never received any such letter from Wilentz, a Middlesex County lawyer and Democratic leader. The mayor fully approved the ouster of Rees, Malafronte said.

Rees also said in his letter that many city employees were consultants for outside firms, and suggested he was being victimized "because of my frequently voiced dislike of Negro racists active in the United Community Corp." or "because of my aggressive tactics in seeking federal funds for the city and my intolerance of administrative ineptitude in Washington, Trenton or Newark."

Malafronte dismissed the letter as "hysterical . . . beneath contempt and not warranting a reply."

Rees met yesterday with John A. Hurley, field representative of the Labor Department, and said he wants to meet top officials of the department and appear before a grand jury. "I think the air needs clearing," he said.

Hurley said an investigation is already under way, and any dispute about his New Careers job was a matter "between him and his superiors."

Federal Aid Refund Asked on Rees' Pay

By DOUGLAS ELDRIDGE
The U.S. Department of Labor has asked the Newark city administration to return $7,597 that was paid to John Rees as research director of the federally financed New Careers training program.

This was disclosed yesterday by Labor Department officials, who said auditors have questioned whether Rees was on the job or even in Newark during some of the time for which he was paid by the city.

Rees is also vice president of National Goals Inc., a private educational firm, and a consultant to several companies involved in various federal programs.

J. Terrell Whitsitt, regional manpower administrator for the Hurley, local field representative, said they are also blocking payment of $12,100 by Total Employment and Manpower (TEAM) to a training firm with which Rees is involved. Auditors have been unable yet to document the firm's services to TEAM, the federal officials said.

Resigned in March

Rees was employed in the $12,000-a-year job by the city from July 17, 1967, until last March 8, when he resigned under pressure from the mayor's office. City officials said his private consulting interfered with his work for New Careers. Whitsitt said he asked Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio to repay the $7,597 to the Labor Department after auditors were unable to verify that Rees had been working full time for the city.

Rees insisted last night, however, that he fully performed his job, and declared: "I would welcome any in-depth investigation of my services by the Department of Labor or by any competent investigative body."

Kaufman Role

He said he never concealed his outside activities, and he blamed the current problem on "the usual Newark mis-administration of a program."

It was also learned Arthur Kaufman, the city's director of manpower, had worked as a part-time consultant for another firm linked to Rees during the time Rees was employed in Kaufman's department. City officials said they had investigated and found no conflict of interest on Kaufman's part.

New Careers, run by the city as a part of TEAM, is a $1 million project to train 250 men and women as government aides.

Hurley said the auditors have not yet been able to substantiate the services provided last year to TEAM by Training Systems International, a subsidiary of Applied Electronics Corp. of Metuchen.

Rees reached last night at his home and office at 10 Hill St., said he is a consultant for the training firm but had no connection with its work for TEAM.

Proposed Patrol

Rees recently gained attention as author of a proposal to set up a "community peace patrol" of black and white militants. He and Police Director Dominick A. Spina asked the Justice Department in April for $743,741 for the scheme, which has since been renounced by Spina and assailed by several public officials.

Labor Department officials said they are still investigating TEAM. It was learned the Justice Department in Washington is also reviewing the situation.

Donald Malafronte, aide to Addonizio and director of the city's Community Development Administration, said last night the city agrees some federal funds should be repaid. The city business administrator's office is trying to determine exactly how much time Rees spent on the caused excessive absence, Kaufman said.

Kaufman said Rees came to the job last July with good credentials and references, and prepared a number of proposals and publications for New Careers. But Rees' outside interests caused excessive absenteeism, Kaufman said.

Malafronte Charge

Malafronte charged Rees "worked as a consultant on our time, and we don't permit that." Malafronte said Kaufman called the problem to his attention, and he asked Rees to quit because the city job and the outside consulting were "incompatible."

Meanwhile, it was disclosed Kaufman had served as a consultant for Applied Electronics in California and Florida. Applied Electronics is the parent firm of Training Systems International.

Kaufman at first refused to discuss what he called private business interests, but later admitted he had taken three assignments from the firm. He said he earned less than $1,000 as a consultant, and severed all ties with the firm several months ago.

Malafronte said the city reviewed Kaufman's consulting work and found it had no connection with his city job. All the work was done on Kaufman's own time, Malafronte said.

Superiors Informed

Rees claimed last night that "many other city and United Community Corp. employees" had done outside consulting, as he and Kaufman did. Rees said he informed his city superiors of all his out-of-town activities during his seven months in New Careers.

The former research official also said he had developed "substantial, lengthy" projects for the city training program.

The Labor Department officials emphasized the preliminary audit of TEAM has no connection with a threatened cut in the program budget from $4.5 to $3.4 million. All existing programs across the nation are being cut 25 per cent, they said.

TEAM, co-sponsored by the city and the UCC, has trained or found jobs for nearly 3,000 slum residents since last August. Officials had sought $7.85 million in federal aid for the year beginning Aug. 1.

Addonizio and other local officials have vowed to go to Washington to seek extra funds to avert any cut in the program.

Hurley said TEAM, with some operating economies, could probably serve as many people in its second year as in its first. He said the project will probably be extended until Aug. 31 at its current level with some $350,000 in funds that will be left at the end of this month. The second-year proposal must still be revised and sent to Washington.

Hurley said the auditing firm of Silberman and Dodis of Irvington is still reviewing invoices for $12,100 from Training Systems International for leadership training of 175 TEAM staff members last year. Hurley said the Labor Department has refused to pay anything until the firm's services can be documented.

TEAM's subcontract with Testing Systems International was approved last September by Hurley, the mayor, UCC President Timothy Still and Peter Mercurio, listed as manager of the firm. Mercurio also works for National Goals, and its five-room headquarters in Hallmark House is rented in his name.

Rees' name does not appear in the training contract, but he was reported to be regional representative of the firm, Hurley said.

The two Labor Department officials said auditors have questioned some other expenditures, particularly for travel, but they declined comment until all evidence is in. Both federal and local officials said they do not know if any legal action will result.

Whitsitt, in his letter to the mayor, asked the city to "recover monies improperly paid one John Rees." The request was made after auditors checked airline tickets to ascertain Rees' whereabouts during his employment by the city.

The Labor Department also asked that time sheets be kept on all TEAM employees, including administrators, and that employees obtain approval from their superiors for outside consulting work. Whitsitt also forbade any consulting for TEAM by employees of the city or the UCC.

All these orders have been carried out, Malafronte and Kaufman said.

Newark checks ex-poverty aide's services, salary

The Newark city administration is seeking to determine whether any of the $7,597 paid to John Rees as research director of the federally financed New Careers training program could be returned to the U.S. Department of Labor, it was disclosed yesterday.

Labor Department officials said yesterday auditors had questioned whether Rees was on the job or even in Newark during some of the time for which he was paid. The program is co-sponsored by the city, and the United Community Corporation, Newark's anti-poverty agency.

Rees was employed in the $12,000-a-year position by the city from July 17, 1967, until last March 8, when he resigned under pressure from the mayor's office.

Donald Malafrante, an aide to Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio and director of the city's Community Development Administration, said yesterday city auditors uncovered facts while auditing records of Total Employment and Man Power (TEAM) which indicated "Rees should be fired."

He said the labor department was informed when the facts were uncovered last February and that Rees complied when asked to resign in March.

New Careers, run as a part of TEAM, is a $1 million project to train 250 women as government aides.

J. Terrell Whitsitt, regional manpower administrator for the Labor Department, and John A. Hurley, local field representative, said they are also blocking payment of $21, 100 by TEAM to a training firm with which Rees is involved. The auditors have not been able to document the firm's services to TEAM, the federal officials said.

Rees is also vice president of National Goals Inc., a private educational firm, and a consultant to several companies involved in various federal programs.

Malafrante said Ferdinand J. Biunno, Newark business administrator, is attempting to determine if any of the money paid to Rees should be returned to the federal labor department "and he is negotiating with them." "It may take months," he said.

"I think some money may have been paid back, but I'm not sure how much," Malafrante said. "However, even $7,597 isn't a very large disallowance in such a large program."

Malafrante charged that Rees "worked as a consultant on our time, and we don't permit that."

Rees claimed that "many other city and UCC employees" had done outside consulting such as he had done. He said he had informed his city superiors of all out-of-town activities during his seven months in New Careers.

The former research official said he had developed "substantial, lengthy" projects for the city training program.

Whitsitt, in a letter to the mayor, asked the city to "recover monies improperly paid to one John Rees." The request was made after the auditors had checked airline tickets to learn Rees's whereabouts during his employment by the city.

Inquiries were received by Immigration and Naturalization Service from the British Consulate in New York City on June 8, 1966, and October 21, 1966, as to the address of the subject, and Immigration and Naturalization Service furnished them his address.

[REDACTED]

On April 25, 1968, Assistant United States Attorney Edwin H. Stier, Newark, New Jersey, made available a typed brochure put out by National Goals, Inc., and entitled "Law Enforcement Project Group." The main office of National Goals is listed as Hallmark House, 10 Hill Street, Newark, New Jersey, (201) 643-2137. A Washington office is listed as Suite 507, 1100-32nd Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., (202) 223-6639, and a New York office is listed as 120 E. 56th Street, New York, New York (212) 752-2869.

The brochure lists the following officials:

[REDACTED] ...Law Enforcement: [REDACTED]

The brochure quotes a portion of President Lyndon B. Johnson's speech to Congress in March of 1966 regarding the problems of crime and indicates that National Goals, Inc., a private nonprofit service organization, in response to the President's challenge, formed a Law Enforcement Project Group directed by experienced police and correction officers.

The brochure also states:

"Our Washington, D. C. office maintains close contact with both the Legislative and Executive branches of Government, and we believe that our advice has been instrumental in securing modifications and amendments to legislation within areas of our competence. NGI is involved under contract with the U. S. Department of Justice, the U. S. Department of Labor, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and The Office of Economic Opportunity. With an established competence in the area of 'Grantsmanship' both our local and Washington staff are able to provide expert assistance to clients who are seeking Federal funding assistance."

The brochure lists the following as police consultants and staff:

- 1) [REDACTED]
Newark, New Jersey
- 2) [REDACTED]
Essex County Police Academy
- 3) [REDACTED]
Law Medicine Center, Boston University

[redacted]

Nine other police consultants are listed by number instead of name and described by rank, field or fields of specialization, with a generalized statement regarding the size of the department and the geographical area where located.

On April 26, 1968, representatives of an agency of the State of New Jersey, which conducts investigations, advised regarding National Goals, Inc., as follows:

The parent company is Diversified Products Corporation of New Jersey, Woodbridge Avenue, Edison, New Jersey. [redacted] [redacted] of this company and its agent.

A subsidiary of this company is one called Applied Electronics, Inc., also of Edison, New Jersey, with a mailing address of P.O. Box 43, Metuchen, New Jersey.

Training Systems, Inc., (a New York corporation), is a subsidiary of Applied Electronics, Inc., with the same P.O. Box address in Metuchen, New Jersey.

National Goals, Inc., is a subsidiary of Training Systems, Inc.

[redacted]
[redacted] of Diversified Products Corporation.

[redacted] an attorney in New York, is the [redacted] of Training Systems, Inc.

[redacted] reportedly advised that Diversified Products, when approached with the idea of underwriting an organization that was in a position to assist New Jersey communities as consultants in police matters, gave favorable consideration to the idea. It was decided that it would be "good politics" and [redacted] told them to go ahead. They then set up the subsidiary company.

[redacted] advised that Applied Electronics, Inc. arranges for the various "grants" by Government agencies and that "knowing people in Washington helps." They administer the funds received and pay all the bills. They have been able to arrange for some "grants" for "Police Assistance" to towns that are below the hundred thousand population requirement because of "certain errors" in typing.

According to [redacted] he did not know [redacted] background or the fact that he was an alien. [redacted] inferred that consideration was being given by Washington to changing the

[redacted]

"funding" of antipoverty funds in Newark from the present United Community Corporation. If there is a change [redacted] stated that they may be able to arrange for National Goals, Inc. or another new subsidiary to administer these funds.

[redacted] is publicly known as the Democratic leader in Middlesex County, New Jersey, and [redacted] was the unsuccessful Democratic United States Senator candidate in the last United States Senatorial election in New Jersey.

The "Newark Evening News," a daily Newark, New Jersey, newspaper, issue of June 20, 1968, on page one, carried an article captioned, "Peace Patrol' Plan Draws Hughes' Ire."

"A plan to make leaders of militant white and Negro organizations paid directors of a 300-man 'Community Peace Patrol' in Newark has been given a cool reception.

"The proposal, quietly submitted to the Department of Justice April 19, is understood to have met with interest but with opposition there. It is opposed vehemently by Gov. Hughes.

"The 'project directors' would be Anthony Imperiale, president of the North Ward Citizens Committee, a white militant group, and Brother Kamiel Wadud of the United Brothers of Newark, a black militant organization. Imperiale and Wadud, two of four to sign the preliminary proposal, would be paid $12,000 each.

"Police Director Dominick Spina and John Rees, president of National Goals Inc., also signed the proposal, which calls for $743,741.50 in federal funds to administer and outfit the vigilante group with uniforms, helmets, walkie-talkie, radios, tape recorders, cameras, patrol cars and other equipment. It also would provide for four offices and two warehouses.

"The proposal is for one year with equipment costs to run $138,006 and operating costs, mostly salaries, to total $605,735.50.

"Spina is listed under 'police consultants and staff' in the brochure of National Goals Inc., a 'law enforcement project group' which operated with a full-time staff of five from the Hallmark House apartments, 10 Hill St.

[REDACTED]

"Rees submitted the preliminary plan to the Department of Justice and 11 days later, Courtney Evans, acting director of the department's Office of Law Enforcement, replied: 'We do not have the funds to support such a project.'

'Interesting' Project

"Evans did, however, term the project 'most interesting' and told Rees that Paul Estaver, a department field representative, would contact him to discuss it.

"While there is no record of the proposal in the City Clerk's Office, Mayor Hugh Addonizio reportedly has been reviewing it with some favor. Donald Malafronte, an aide to the mayor, said that while the administration was not directly involved in the preparation of the proposal, it appeared that it would 'formalize and moderate' relations between militant groups and the police.

"'This was a positive response to community demands that the administration bring extremist groups together,' said Malafronte. 'It also dispels the notion that they are ready to kill each other.'

"Gov. Hughes had a different reaction. The governor, who apparently has been aware of the plan for some time, said that he had discussed it with Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and had let him know of his 'strong objection to it'.

"Hughes described the proposal as 'a brainstorm that contains the seeds of very serious trouble' and added: 'It involved well known militants and extremists joined, perhaps unwittingly, by the police director of the City of Newark.'

"The proposal reportedly emanated from a series of private meetings in Spina's office, beginning April 4, with black and white militants. The proposal is dated April 18, but May 17 Spina

[REDACTED]

"issued an order forbidding members of the Police Department to join extremist groups or participate in their activities.

"Hughes' View

"In decrying the plan, Gov. Hughes declared: 'I agree wholeheartedly with Atty. Gen. Clark that there should be no encouragement whatever for the alarming tendency of some private citizens, acting as vigilantes, to attempt to exercise police powers-to do so without legal authority and with no obligation to the public whatever.

"In the words of Atty. Gen. Clark, the protection of the public should be carried out by public officials, including legally authorized police. I agree with Atty. Gen. Clark that it would be irresponsible and unwise to place the protection of the public in private hands.'

"Contending that the plan 'smacks of paramilitarism,' Hughes criticized the Legislature for 'the unconscionable and incomprehensible delay in passing the para-military bill.' He asked for emergency measures.

"In support of the governor, U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr. said he would not endorse the proposal, claiming he was opposed to any type of vigilante group.

"The vigilante proposal, which is prefaced with emphasis on 'the summer months and the threat of violence and disorder,' calls for a systematic patrol, void of official law enforcement duties or powers of arrest. Police superior officers and patrolmen would be assigned to the patrol as liaison personnel.

"Seven-Day Patrols

"Twenty patrol cars would be leased for 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. patrols seven days a week. They would be equipped with two-way radios for communicating "with general headquarters-one of four storefront offices. Negro neighborhoods would be patrolled by Negroes and white neighborhoods by whites, with two of each race in integrated neighborhoods.

"Patrolmen would receive $1.75 per hour and their supervisors $2.50 an hour. Three administrators each would receive $3 per hour. Uniforms would be provided-$8,750 for jumpsuits and $5,250 for helmet liners.

"Patrolmen would be selected by the North Ward Citizens Committee and the United Brothers, who would provide representation also from the Spanish-speaking community. The proposal states: 'While no background check will be made on candidates, an effort will be made to recruit only those whose character and motivations are of the highest quality.'

"The plan explains that 'considerable attention will be given to the applicants' physical condition, and to this end a physical examination will be required and provided as part of the program.' It is listed as a $3,335 expense.

"Additional criteria 'should be concerned with the applicants' educational attainments, his occupational status and his place of residence,' according to the plan.

"Training Plan

"Training for the program would be provided by National Goals Inc., described in the preliminary plan as 'a fully integrated non-profit organization specializing in the area of education, training and law enforcement.' The plan also describes it as 'the firm selected by both participating organizations as the most qualified to provide training for this program.'

"A spokesman for the North Ward Citizens Committee said the actual plan was prepared by

[REDACTED]

"Rees and that it was signed in his office. The budget provides for $23,310 for 'seven days of intensive classroom and field exercises.'

"National Goals Inc. would be paid another $36,000 for weekly one-day seminars for the remainder of the program. The firm budgeted another $10,000 for what is described as 'development of training materials, visual aids, etc.'

"Spina and Imperiale were not available last night for comment. Rees reportedly was on the West Coast and will be there until next week.

"Wadud, asked how his group and Imperiale's would get along with each other, said: 'Personally I don't have any bones to pick with Tony. We both come from the same gutters.'

"'I'm just interested in our people... not getting them caught up in this genocidal thing. Imperiale never professed any love for the black man, but maybe (by working together) we can take the blood thing out of it.'

"Explains Patrols

"Wadud explained that under the proposal, black and white militants would ride in the same cars in some 'fringe areas' of the city, such as Vailsburg or along Bloomfield or Chancellor Avenues. But he definitely ruled out any white patrols in the heavily Negro Central Ward.

"He said the patrols would be unarmed. 'But they would be able to defend themselves,' he added. 'White people can't police black people anymore. We know how to talk to our people. We need to govern our own. If it's a black situation, let black people handle it.'

[REDACTED]

"Wadud said that if any trouble erupted, the patrolmen immediately would call for help over their radios. 'Maybe this could even be made into a farm system for the Police Department,' he added.

"National Goals Inc. was suggested earlier this year by Sheriff Ralph D'Ambola as the firm to provide police training for his staff. The Board of Freeholders rejected the proposal in favor of the State Police training program.

"The outfit, however, did present an application for a federal grant for the East Orange Police Department community relations program. A spokesman there, who said the grant was for about $15,000, said National Goals acted 'as overseer for seminars, problems and classes.' Spina reportedly was one of the paid speakers.

"Office Space Rented

"The National Goals office space at the Hallmark House is rented under the name of Peter Mercurio, who described himself as a consultant and one of the five full-time staff members.

"Although the advertising pamphlet of the company lists Washington, New York and Newark offices, Newark is the apparent headquarters. Mercurio said the firm 'gave up' the Washington space, and the New York number is a law firm which Mercurio said 'takes calls'. The firm is incorporated in New York, but not registered in New Jersey."

On July 2, 1968, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] United States Department of Labor, Room 220, 1060 Broad Street, Newark, advised that contract CEP 67-18 was granted by the United States Department of Labor in the total amount of $4,301,747.

[redacted]

The contractor was the Office of the Mayor of the City of Newark, New Jersey, with the United Community Corporation, Newark, New Jersey, as co-sponsor. The major objective was to provide employment and expansion of job opportunities for residents of selected high unemployment areas of the City of Newark.

Among the programs was one entitled, "New Careers". Under this program the contractor, through the City of Newark, was to conduct the program in which 250 job opportunities with municipal agencies were to be utilized by placing enrollees in job training.

The contractor was authorized to sub-contract with other groups as required to carry out the objectives of the program. Included in the seven sub-contracts was one with Training Systems International in the amount of $12,100, executed on the 21st day of September, 1967.

[redacted] advised that as the result of an audit by an independent Certified Public Accounting Firm, he learned of a possible conflict of interest whereby [redacted] of the New Careers Program, and [redacted] of the New Careers Program, were receiving salaries in those capacities and at the same time, were being paid for consulting services rendered to Training Systems International.

The "Newark Evening News", a Newark, New Jersey daily newspaper, issue of July 12, 1968, on page 1, carried an article captioned, "Rees Wants Jury Inquiry", which reads as follows:

"John Rees, whose work in a Newark training project is under investigation by federal and city officials, yesterday said he wants a federal grand jury to hear his case.

"Rees was forced out of his job as research director of the city's New Careers program last March, and the U.S. Department of Labor is trying to recover from the city $7,537 paid to Rees in salary. Federal and local officials say Rees' outside consulting work interfered with his supposedly fulltime job.

"Rees contended yesterday city officials never complained about his performance during seven months with New Careers.

"He also charged that Arthur Kaufman, the city's manpower director, knew all about his outside interests, and even accompanied him on a one-day consulting trip to the Chicago House of Correction last Aug. 17.

"Kaufman Cleared

"Kaufman, who hired Rees last July and was his supervisor in New Careers, and Rees were both employed as part-time consultants for Applied Electronics Corp. of Metuchen. Kaufman said he has severed all ties with the firm, and the city administration has cleared him of any conflict of interest.

"The Labor Department is currently withholding payment of $12,100 to Applied Electronics for training last summer for staff members of Total Employment and Manpower (TEAM), a federally financed project that includes New Careers.

"A Labor Department claim that the firm's services have not been documented was vehemently denied yesterday by Howard Seeley, a consultant for Applied Electronics.

"Seeley said he provided more training to the manpower staff than was required by the contract, and his service has drawn continuing praise from those he trained.

"Seeley is also training director of National Goals, Inc., a private consulting firm headed by Rees.

[REDACTED]

"Meanwhile, Donald Malafrente, aide Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, said local--not federal--officials took the initiative in launching an investigation of Rees' activities, and forcing him off the city payroll. Rees resigned March 8 at Malafrente's request.

"Malafrente said auditors retained by the city and the United Community Corp., cosponsors of TEAM, raised the first questions about Rees' connection with Applied Electronics while he was working for the city. The Labor Department was later advised of the situation, Malafrente said.

"City Business Administrator Ferdinand J. Biunno said he is still checking the amount of time devoted to the New Careers job by Rees, before determining how much to repay the Labor Department. Biunno said he is considering efforts to recover some of the money from Rees.

"Discusses Services

"Rees-- a 43 year-old Briton who describes himself as 'a professional generalist' and 'freelance consultant'--discussed his services to the city yesterday in his three-room apartment at 10 Hill St., which is also the only office of National Goals. The sparse furnishings include two desks, one filing cabinet and a copying machine.

"Rees admitted he spent only three or four hours a week on New Career projects, but claimed the rest of his time was devoted to 'related' programs, particularly in the Newark Police Department.

"Rees yesterday released a copy of his letter of resignation to Malafrente, which said in part:

"I would also draw your attention to the fact that my close working relationship with the Applied Electronics Corp. was brought, at my request, to the attention of the mayor, both orally and in a letter from Mr. Warren Wilentz when he commended this company as a reputable contractor and suggested their and my involvement in a research project for the city.'

[REDACTED]

"Malafrente Comment

"Malafrente said the mayor never received any such letter from Vilontz, a Middlesex County lawyer and Democratic leader. The mayor fully approved the ouster of Rees, Malafrente said.

"Rees also said in his letter that many city employees were consultants for outside firms, and suggested he was being victimized 'because of my frequently voiced dislike of Negro racists active in the United Community Corp.' or 'because of my aggressive tactics in seeking federal funds for the city and my intolerance of administrative ineptitude in Washington, Trenton or Newark.'

"Malafrente dismissed the letter as 'hystorical . . . beneath contempt and not warranting a reply.'

"Rees met yesterday with John A. Hurley, field representative of the Labor Department, and said he wants to meet top officials of the department and appear before a grand jury. 'I think the air needs clearing,' he said.

company of New York, and their associate company, a division of the Applied Electronics Corporation of New Jersey, in the course of their involvement with Soviet institutions in Alaska, California, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, and the Federal Bureau of Prisons, had contemplated there was a need for a manual to serve as a guide for those working with prisoners, in order to achieve an up-grading of their basic educational and vocational skills.

The file contained a letter dated May 21, 1953, to the FBI, [redacted]

In another letter from FBI, [redacted] requested to the USIA, that certain changes be suggested to raise the annual individuals involved in work under the contract. This suggested that the salary as a Contract Administration, part-time, be adjusted to $50 per day for a 20 day period.

The file contained no additional pertinent information.

On July 10, 1953, [redacted] Division of International and Continental, Department of Labor, both and Constitution Bureau, [redacted] advised that records of her Division reflect no indication that there is any type of contract with the Department of Labor.

He stated that, because of the great volume of contracts handled by EOO, only records of prime contractors, and not those of sub-contractors, are maintained by his office, unless the sub-contract exceeds $25,000, or 5% of the total amount of the contract.

IX World Festival of Youth, Sofia, Bulgaria

July 22, 1968

With the cooperation of [redacted], an attempt was made to place two people with the American Delegation to the above Festival.

Details of the Festival are shown on Attachment "A", a photostat copy of literature which was available at the American Delegations offices, 34 West 17th Street, New York City.

On July 8, 1968 [redacted] visited the 17th Street offices and was given a simple application form which sought information on his organizational and delegate status, whether he was seeking financial assistance, and the usual information as to name, occupation, age and address. At the offices he dealt with a white male, approx. 25 years of age, identified as [redacted] by his two co-workers - white females about 20 years of age.

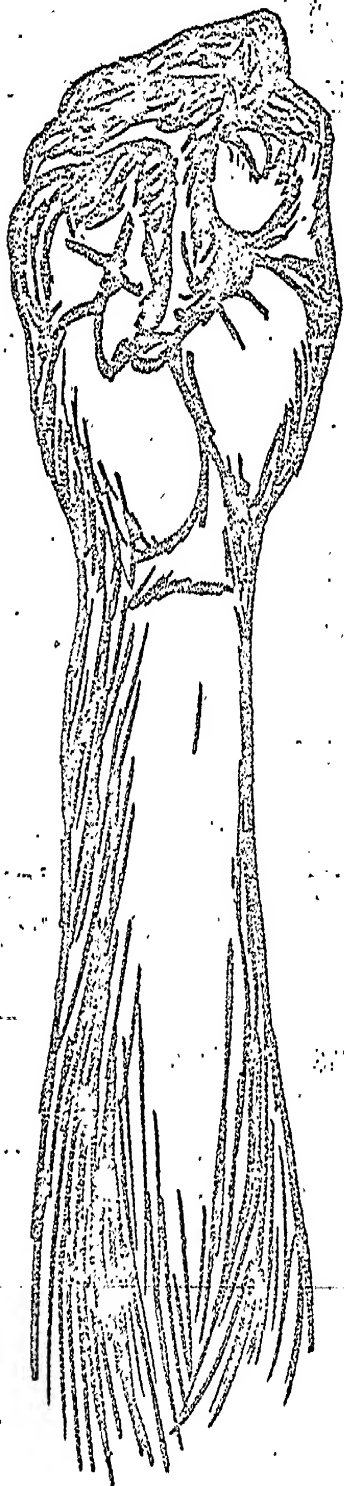

On completing the application form [redacted] returned it to the Delegation Offices on July 10, and was directed by [redacted] to the Vogue Travel Agency at 35 West 53rd Street where he was told to ask for a [redacted]. On visiting Bjosi [redacted] learnt of the travel arrangements (SAS at 11 pm on July 25 to Copenhagen, thence to Sofia. Return by the same route and airline) Bjosi told him that the flight was open, but his acceptance depended on the Committee. On July 12 [redacted] again visited the Delegation Offices and paid by cash, his fee of $82.50. At this time he was told by one of the girls in the office that he should call on July 15 to ascertain if he had been accepted. It is noted that on this visit [redacted] was seen by an older w/m, about 50 years of age, balding, 5'6" medium build who made some comment on his appearance to the office staff. On calling the Delegation Offices on July 15, [redacted] was told that the flight was full and he could not be a part of the American Delegation. On 7.19.68 he received a check from the American Delegation, a photostat of which is attached and marked "B".

On July 12, 1968 [redacted] visited the offices of the American Delegation and spoke with a white female, now known as [redacted]. She received the same instructions as [redacted] visited Bjosi, and on July 16 paid cash for the flight costs and was, at once accepted as a Delegate. On July 22, [redacted] was telephoned by a man from the Delegation offices and offered a free trip to Moscow prior to the Festival if she could leave on July 23 at 2.25 pm from JFK Airport. (First meeting at the Delegation Offices at 10.30 pm) She was told that a Russian visa would be "Taken care of" if she had her passport at the Delegation Offices before 5.30 pm on July 22. [redacted] declined this trip as it would have meant missing the delegation briefing session on July 25 at 3 pm. [redacted] was informed at 5 pm on July 22 that the Delegation had "filled the ten vacancies for the Moscow trip".

Additional information will be provided as and when it becomes available. A photograph of [redacted] is attached and marked "C".

THE AMERICAN DELEGATION

The delegation from the United States is of special importance this year. Our country is the most powerful exploiter and oppressor of other peoples in the world.

The struggle in Vietnam against U.S. imperialism is taking on even greater proportions than before, and is a dramatic indication of the growing hostility throughout the world towards the United States government.

The rebellions of black people in America against inferior jobs, housing and education, the increasing number of strikes and of student demonstrations are revealing to the world that the U.S. government oppresses people at home as well as abroad.

The U.S. delegation must discuss with youth from other countries what we can all do to end U.S. aggression around the world.

referenced communication indicated that [redacted]

Assistant Director W. C. SULLIVAN and indicated that subject [redacted] had contacted him and furnished information indicated that [redacted] had been introduced to the Newark assistance to Newark in racial matters but no action was taken by Newark [redacted]

Numerous attempts were made to locate and interview [redacted] with negative results due to [redacted] heavy commitments and travel. On 7/19/68 [redacted] made arrangements for an appointment for 7/23/68 and he was contacted that date. [redacted] explained that [redacted] telephonically contacted him from Newark and requested to speak to [redacted] at which time [redacted] declined. [redacted] stated, however, after repeated contacts by [redacted] he agreed to an appointment and that approximately two or three months ago he and [redacted]

[redacted] at that time furnished [redacted] with numerous newspaper articles, handouts and photographs concerning organizations of interest to the Bureau particularly the Black Panther Party, SDS, and RAM. Also included

China Relations. [] stated that that committee is composed of eminent and well-known experts on Mainland China, whose political affiliations encompass the entire spectra of political thought. [] advised, however, that THOMAS has been known to him to be an ultra-liberal. [] stated that THOMAS and his wife formerly were closely associated with Mrs. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., when the KINGs resided in Alabama and he noted that shortly after KING's assassination, [] came to Atlanta and remained with Mrs. KING for approximately one month. [] also noted that the speech delivered by Mrs. KING at Harvard University concerning MARTIN LUTHER KING's "Lost Ten Commandments" advocated U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam and the economic disruption of this nation's military and industrial complex. [] brought this to the attention of the Bureau because he felt that THOMAS's position within the National Committee on U. S.-China Relations might become dominant over the rest of the members and that as in the past one man's influence could sway the political thought of the entire organization.

[] stated that after his initial contact with [] he continued to receive numerous articles, handouts, and surveillance-type photographs of organizations of interest to the Bureau. [] furnished voluminous information when contacted, which although basically of public source material in the nature of newspaper articles, it did contain, however, information which may be of interest to the Bureau. Atlanta is presently in the process of reviewing the above information in an effort to evaluate its worth, and is at this time contemplating furnishing said material to the Newark Office for possible presentation to [] in order to determine the source of his information.

The information set forth above will be incorporated into LHM form after information furnished by [] has been evaluated and appropriate action recommended by Atlanta. No leads being set forth for Newark at this time in view of the information set forth above.

As set forth in previous communications, the Atlanta Office received voluminous information in the form of newspaper articles, hand-outs, photographs, and what appear to be investigative type reports, from [REDACTED] [REDACTED] The Southern Council on International and Public Affairs, Lenox Square, Atlanta, Georgia.

Atlanta has reviewed the above-described material and, although it is noted a great preponderance of it is public source material, Atlanta feels that the information furnished [REDACTED] by [REDACTED] is of such recent preparation that it would appear [REDACTED] may be in a position to be of assistance to the Bureau.

[REDACTED] who is reportedly engaged in gathering intelligence information for dissemination to local law enforcement agencies, has indicated in cover letters accompanying the above material, that he is collecting, reviewing, and disseminating information concerning subversive and racial organizations whose activities are within the investigative jurisdiction of the Bureau.

Atlanta has sorted, as is possible, a large bulk of the material into individual packages and labeled them by organization.

It should be noted all information furnished by [REDACTED] was received in haphazard form and bore no semblance to order. [REDACTED] stated he periodically receives material from [REDACTED] which lacks form and continuity. Atlanta has sorted the above material in an effort to gain continuity.

Cecil A. Thomas in the past. He stated that Thomas is presently the Executive Director of the National Committee on United States - China Relations, and has initiated seminars for that Committee in the past.

[] pointed out that the National Committee on United States - China Relations is composed of eminent and well-known experts on mainland China, whose political affiliations encompass the entire spectra of political thought. [] stated that to his knowledge there was no subversive activity being taken by that Committee. [] however, indicated that Thomas has always been known to him as being a civil rights activist and a person whose actions, although motivated by humanitarian principles, may, in actuality, not be in the best interests of the American Government. [] further noted that he could not substantiate personally any of the information set forth above, but when presented with the package reflecting Thomas's activity at the University of California during the Free Speech Rally movement in December of 1964 and his association with members of the Communist Party of the United States, specifically Herbert Aptheker, he felt incumbent upon himself to bring this information to the attention of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Communist Party of the United States has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

White expressed concern that Thomas's position on the National Committee on United States - China Relations might become so dominant that his influence over that Committee may either cause him to gain control of the Committee or alienate those members who do not respect his views, and he further noted that, as in the past, one man's influence could easily sway the political thought of an entire organization.

[] advised that Thomas and [] name unrecalled, were formerly closely associated with Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., when the King's resided in Birmingham, Alabama, and White recalled reading a newspaper article which noted that shortly after King's assassination, [] came to Atlanta and remained with Mrs. King for approximately one month. [] made mention of the speech delivered by Mrs. King at Harvard University concerning

Martin Luther King's supposed "Last Ten Commandments" which espoused United States withdrawal from Viet Nam and the economic disruption of this nation's military and industrial complex as a means for furthering the civil rights movement. [] recalled that many of the statements made by Mrs. King at Harvard were sentiments previously expressed by Thomas. [] also was of the opinion that Thomas or [] may have had an influence on Mrs. King in the preparation of that speech.

[] furnished the package of information furnished by [] to him, and that information is attached hereto.

German Teen-agers Seek Churches

By FLO BEATTY
Children Staff Writer

Many young people in Germany are searching through their spiritual and moral values. They are desperately seeking a way to find their spiritual center.

The executive secretary of the Ohio State University YMCA recently visited with his wife and two small sons after spending a year in Berlin, Germany.

While in Berlin, Mr. Thomas worked as a group work supervisor at a neighborhood center in Berlin. He also was one of three American consultants setting up a youth center work course in Berlin. He had been one of the center's oldest and best known volunteers.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS are members of the North Columbus Chapter of Epiphany which has been working to develop groups in Berlin for distribution among the youth.

"I, my wife and I took an active part in the religious affairs of the church," said Mr. Thomas. "We were sponsored by the church and had a religious center program."

The young people who came had things about all what is here lived in Berlin. A work America that I have learned, that is, that just a talent in the also in your country are people who were highly who fight for peace in our Christ. They were highly who fight for peace in our Christ. They were highly who fight for peace in our Christ.

A 10-YEAR OLD GIRL, who is the daughter of a minister in the church, said that she had been in the church in the past. She had been in the church in the past. She had been in the church in the past.

She had been in the church in the past. She had been in the church in the past. She had been in the church in the past. She had been in the church in the past.

MRS. CECIL A. THOMAS, wife of the executive secretary of the Ohio State University YMCA, welcomes a little German girl to the Neighborhood Home in Berlin where she served as a volunteer.

"This type of witness left the church work and of no source of strength," he said. "Since the war quite a few ministers and laymen have tried to make the church a more forceful presence in the community. There is more speaking out against injustice from our pulpits. Many in the Western world are preaching against the materialization of Western society."

"There are a lot of people here who are looking for the teachings of Jesus as a way of life for these days," he said. "I am teaching, and people are interested in religion, and people are interested in religion."

"MANY GERMANS still want the church to be as it formerly was," he said. "I have to have you neither offered nor promised anything. I have to have you neither offered nor promised anything."

"I have to have you neither offered nor promised anything. I have to have you neither offered nor promised anything. I have to have you neither offered nor promised anything."

Mr. Thomas admitted his reference to his "in-hand" involvement as a CO in a lengthy statement on his background presented for the Albany City Council.

Thomas, who has a long association with left wing causes, was associate executive secretary of the United Friends Committee on Legislation in 1962, both the FCL and the American Friends Service Committee are nominally Quaker organizations which have been the fulcrum of continuing discussion within the peace-loving society of Friends in disquiet over the left wing political positions of these two organizations.

Thomas was among leaders of a conference instigated in Oct. 1960 by the East Bay Community Forum, a cited Communist front working in the San Francisco area for the United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

He has been an active member of numerous development organizations, including the United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

ANTI-CHINA

Along with identification of Thomas, the Albany City Council, which Thomas was named as one of the members of the newly formed United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Other meetings and demonstrations, which Thomas took part in, were held in position to carry out anti-Chinese programs. He was a member of the United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Before moving to California, Thomas served from 1941 to 1943 as executive secretary of the YMCA at Ohio State University. On Sept. 15, 1943, he resigned from the YMCA of Columbus, Ohio, after an agreement over the University of Ohio conducted by the United States House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Thomas was active in the organization at the Ohio campus of a group called "Student Progress Committee," which was a Committee Against Un-American Activities, and a left wing political group.

A few years after he arrived in Berkeley, Thomas had an excellent record in the organization of "Student Progress Committee," which was a Committee Against Un-American Activities, and a left wing political group.

Later, he moved on to the University of California, Berkeley, where he was a member of the "Student Progress Committee," which was a Committee Against Un-American Activities, and a left wing political group.

DuBois Club Sights Set on OEO Demands

CHICAGO — The DuBois Club, located on the West side and the poorest area on the North side, is the focus of the Communist Party's anti-Black Club's summer program.

Aim of the program, headed by the national president Thomas, is to "educate" the Black community on social conditions for the Black community.

Near the end of the summer, the DuBois Club has built up a list of 100 people who intend to "educate" the Black community on social conditions for the Black community. At that time, they will be "educating" the Black community on social conditions for the Black community.

Elated over the Free Speech Movement victory at the University of California, Berkeley, such on- and off-campus personalities as left-leaning Los Angeles, Meola Park teacher and veteran "peace" picker Bettina Aptheker, a USA student leader and daughter of nationally known Communist Party leader Herbert Aptheker; Cecil Thomas, of the American Friends Service Committee; and Han Knight Thompson, Women for Peace co-chair and former RFA public affairs director, gathered in a 1969 picket line of the San Francisco Federal building. He was considered a "left" and took up a Joan Baez during the 1968 campaign. In fact, he was also called a conscientious objector during World War II, he was former editor of the Berkeley campus paper, the Berkeley Daily Worker, and the organization of the Berkeley campus' national left-wing youth party, the Youth League of America. He was also a part of the 1968 strike of station employees.

Albany Quels a Quaker

The Albany City Council last night upheld the rejection of a Quaker from its Civil Service Board because he was "too controversial."

He is Cecil A. Thomas, associate secretary of the American Friends Service Committee in San Francisco, and a resident of Albany.

Thomas was arrested in Jackson, Miss., in 1961 when he entered a coffee shop in the company of a Negro.

Thomas was turned down by a 3-2 vote of the council last week, and his case reconsidered last night. This time the vote was 4-1, only Councilman Richard Clark voting for approval.

Councilman Joe A. Egenberger Jr., who previously was for Thomas, said he had changed his mind.

Egenberger also said Thomas participated in a disarmament demonstration in Las Vegas in 1957. The two incidents, he said, made him "too controversial."

Mr. Thomas recently resigned the post of executive secretary of the University YM, in which he is now completing his tenth year. He will become a member of the YMCA staff at the University of California, Berkeley. A successor has not yet been named at Ohio State.

The Board presented a gift to the Thomas family to leave for California for the summer.

Mr. Thomas has been a member of the YMCA since 1921. While on leave from the YMCA, he served at a YMCA in Berlin, Germany, for a time with German social workers. He is a graduate of Cedarville College, Ohio.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN TOL

After his move to the Bay Area, Tol began his role as Alameda County Chairman of the American People's Party. Though the Communist party had reached to recruit Tol in that capacity before the time of the HCLX meeting, Brodsky continued to participate in such Communist Party activities as a member of the Berkeley community. Tol is the student and a member of the Citizens Committee for Civil Liberties and Women for Peace.

Brodsky was among the Communist Party attendees at a meeting of the Bay County Community Forum, an anti-MCCX group, held May 26, 1964, at Berkeley's First Unitarian Church. Tol's presence at the meeting was noted by several of the attendees. Mrs. Anne Eastwood, a member of the group, said Tol was a "very active" participant. Other participants were Anthony Jenkins, wife of former Berkeley City Supervisor, and Mrs. William Stapleton, a member of the group. Tol was also present at a meeting of the Berkeley County Community Forum, held April 10, 1964.

Tol also attended the National Conference of American People, held in April 1964, at the Berkeley County Community Forum. Tol was also present at a meeting of the Berkeley County Community Forum, held April 10, 1964. Tol was also present at a meeting of the Berkeley County Community Forum, held April 10, 1964.

City Turns Dove Application

Cecil A. Thomas, associate peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, was rejected this month by the Albany (Calif.) City Council for a post on the civil service commission to which he had been nominated.

Cited during the discussion of Thomas' qualifications was his arrest in July 1961 and subsequent conviction during a racial disturbance in Jackson, Mississippi.

Thomas, who has a long association with left-wing causes, was associate executive secretary of Stiles Hall, the University of California YMCA, from 1954 to 1957, and a lobbyist for the Friends Committee on Legislation in 1962. Both the FCL and the American Friends Service Committee are nominally Quaker organizations which have been the objects of continuing dissension within the peace-loving Society of Friends in disagreement with the left-wing political positions of those two committees.

Thomas was among the leaders of a conference instigated by the East Bay Community Forum, a cited Communist front working for the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities held in San Francisco, Oct. 4, 1960.

SIGNERS OF LETTER

Signers of invitational letters included, in addition to Thomas, Marshall Windmiller, a sponsor of Communist Frank Wilimovsky's National Committee to Abolish the HCUA, Mrs. Betty W. Evans, sister of Frank Wilimovsky, and Carlton B. Goodlett, a delegate to a Kremlin "peace" congress two years ago and a continuing participant in Communist-backed activities.

Following Thomas' arrest in Mississippi, Police Captain J. L. Ray said that "Thomas and three others came with the intention of creating an incident."

Their presence would have occasioned a breach of the peace. When they came into the terminal, an angry crowd of 25 moved toward them. I would say they intended violence."

The Communist press has promised a long, hot summer of agitation. . . .

New Communist fronts are being formed to replace those which exposure has ruined. . . .

Clandestine visits to Cuba will take place again to emphasize order to peace. Thomas was arrested when the order was "with the police" Ray declared.

In addition to his role as a "civil rights" activist, Thomas has been an articulate proponent of such a disavowal was a member of a committee to defeat a 1967 anti-Communist measure in California and has been among the architects of the HCUA. Thomas and his many other former friends were members of the HCUA.

Cecil A. Thomas was jailed as a conscientious objector during World War II. This information is omitted in a lengthy statement on Thomas' background prepared by Mrs. Thomas for the Albany City Council.

Before moving to Berkeley where he directed the University of California YMCA, he had served from 1944 to 1954 as executive secretary of the YMCA at Ohio State University, according to the statement. On Sept. 10, 1945, the downtown YMCA of Columbus, Ohio, severed all connections with the campus "Y" in disagreement over the left-wing activities conducted by the OSU "Y" branch.

Thomas had been instrumental in the formation at the Ohio campus of a group called Student Progressives, a Campus Committee Against Universal Military Training and a left-wing political action group.

A few years after he came to Berkeley Thomas had succeeded in fostering the organization of Sista, the radical left-wing student political party which was officially declared an "off campus" group by the University of California in 1951.

State's present status means that meetings cannot be held on campus although the group is freely permitted to sponsor on-campus Communist speakers and other events.

State led opposition to the now abolished compulsory ROTC program at UC campuses and has been in the forefront of opposition to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Other speeches and demonstrations in which Thomas took part concerned opposition to capital punishment and ROTC programs.

The Communist Peoples World, April 25, 1957, named Thomas as one of the leaders in a move to "clandestine" to save an interracial youth group at Berkeley Farms, American. The Bay Area students were urged in a 1946 letter to contact Thomas if they were interested in engaging in an experiment in community living in a "permissive" environment.

Thomas purchased a state of California active asparagus and helped ship it to the U.S. president and other world leaders in a 1958 protest against nuclear tests.

A direct action demonstration at the Las Vegas, Nev., test site in Aug. 1957 had Thomas as a participant, according to a bulletin from the Fellowship of Reconciliation, a pacifist organization.

MORE SPONSORS

Other sponsors of the Youth committee were veteran Communist front adherents: Anton Refregier, Rodwell Kent, Robert Gwathmey, Bishop Edgar Love, Vincent Hallinan, Robert W. Kenney, Louis F. McIntire, Alexander Markelohn, Stephen H. Fritchman and Wilbur H. Perry.

Secretary Role Held by Thomas

Present associate executive secretary of Stiles Hall is Cecil Thomas, who was arrested July 21, 1961, in Jackson, Mississippi, as a "freedom rider" and given a four months' jail sentence.

"Thomas and three others came with the intention of creating an incident," declared Police Capt. J. L. Ray at the time of the arrest. Ray said that "their presence would have occasioned a breach of the peace. When they came into the terminal," he stated, "an angry crowd of 25 moved toward them. I would say they intended violence."

Twice ordered to move, Thomas was arrested when the order was "willfully refused," Ray declared.

PARADES 557N

Stiles Hall support of "liberal" causes finds a striking parallel in the causes to which Thomas has made a personal commitment.

His interest in the move to abolish campus ROTC was shown in a talk at the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Oct. 10, 1965.

That year the Communist People's World proclaimed, Dec. 3 that Thomas had been elected to a vice presidency in the C. A. P.

Chairman of a peace conference, Feb. 25, 1966 under the Berkeley African Church Federation, Thomas also moderated a meeting on "non violence in Alabama" April 2, 1966 at the Berkeley People's Church.

JOINS CARAVAN

Late that year he participated in a caravan sponsored by the Fellowship of Reconciliation to Montgomery, Alabama, an event which the People's World of July 17, 1966 called a mission of "loyal concern and fellowship." Thomas also supported a Fair Employment Bill for Berkeley according to the P.W. Dec. 24, 1966.

For Area residents were urged in a 1966 letter to contact Thomas if they were interested in engaging in an experiment in spontaneity living in a permanent neighborhood.

Another communal experiment which Thomas supported was the Koinonia Farm in Americus, Georgia. The People's World announced April 27, 1967 that he was one of the leaders in a move to set a colony to save the inter-racial living group.

ASKS A BAN

He was a signer of an ad printed by SANP, a kind of end to atomic testing April 30, 1966. The following year he helped sponsor a youth march for integration whose headquarters were at the 1720 Grove St. address of Arts for Peace. Berkeley students were to deliver a petition to President Eisenhower asking an end to segregation in schools.

Elected treasurer of the Berkeley Committee for Fair Housing, according to the March 1, 1966 Berkeley Review, Thomas in the following two months also supported a SANP protest vigil at a Livermore Calif. weapons research laboratory and a protest procession at San Quentin against capital punishment.

The People's World April 16, 1966 called him an "active participant in civil rights and civil liberties efforts."

His 1964 activities in this sphere were largely limited to freedom riding, its preparation and aftermath.

Freedom Rider Loss Appeal

Jackson, Miss.

A 41-year-old Berkeley "Freedom Rider" lost his second courtroom battle against a fine and jail term yesterday — and immediately launched a new appeal.

Dr. Cecil Thomas, YMCA Secretary at the University of California, posted a $1500 appeal bond after a jury in Hinds County Court found him guilty of a breach of the peace July 21 at the Municipal Airport here.

Nab Bay Man On Vacation As 'Rider'

Dr. Cecil A. Thomas, a vacationing Berkeley campus YMCA executive, was arrested at Jackson Municipal Airport yesterday — along with four Alabama who sought unsuccessfully to desegregate facilities.

The arrests swelled to 271 the number jailed since the Freedom Ride integration attempts began in the Mississippi city on May 24.

Thomas was one of the 16 Bay Area residents who went to Jackson last week to explore problems of segregation and Freedom Riders.

Berkeley associate stressed that he was "on his own," independent of:

- The Berkeley Friends Meeting, of which he is a member.
- Stiles Hall, the campus "Y," of which he is associate executive.

- The nationwide conference held in Jackson last week.

At least 16 more Freedom Riders were due for release on $500 appeal bonds today.

The new appeal will move Thomas' case into the State Circuit Court for its third trial.

Thomas was found guilty in City Court shortly after his arrest. He was fined $200 and sentenced to four months in jail. He appealed — and yesterday's jury trial in County Court resulted.

After yesterday's verdict, County Judge Leroy Moore imposed an identical sentence.

Thomas, a white, and the Rev. Mr. Pettway, a black, and four others, all from Alabama, were arrested when they entered the whites-only restaurant at the municipal airport here. The minister's son and daughter also were arrested.

The arresting officer, Police Captain J. L. Ray, testified yesterday that the group entered the terminal with the intention of creating an incident.

When they entered, Ray said, an angry crowd of 25 persons moved toward them and "they like crowd" intended violence." Ray said Thomas twice "willfully refused" an order to move on.

Thomas said he and the Rev. Mr. Pettway were en route to visit friends at Tougaloo, Southern Christian College near Jackson, and entered the airport restaurant for food and coffee.

Man Denied Albany Job-- Dixie Arrest

The appointment of a Quaker to the Albany Civil Service Board was held up by the Albany City Council Monday night because he had been arrested in 1961 during civil rights demonstrations in Jackson, Mississippi.

Dr. Cecil A. Thomas, associate secretary of the American Friends Service Committee in San Francisco and former associate secretary of the University YMCA in Berkeley.

Thomas, who lives at 962 O'Leary Road, Albany, was recommended for the Civil Service Board by City Councilman Richard Clark, and was one of 12 persons whose appointments to various city board, given before the City Council Monday night for confirmation.

Councilman Joel A. Parker Jr. said the Council should consider what it is that Thomas is being appointed to, and if it is a position that would require arrest in Jackson.

Thomas, who was in the Mississippi state for a religious conference, was arrested in 1961 for breach of the peace. He is currently serving the new equal right of the company of a Negro clerkship. The case is now on appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Parker said that as a member of the Civil Service Board, Thomas could be in a position to question appointments to the Albany police department.

The Council finally approved the appointments except for Thomas, and turned his decision to a vote. The Council voted, however, to appoint Thomas to the position of associate secretary of the Albany City Council.

Berkeley Racial Rider Loses Plea

The secretary of the University of California YMCA in Berkeley lost his appeal yesterday on charges stemming from a Jackson, Miss. "freedom ride" and was sentenced to four months in jail there.

Dr. Cecil Thomas, 41, of Albany, also was ordered to pay a $200 fine by County Judge Rufel Moore in Jackson.

Thomas received the same sentence July 23 in city court and appealed the decision.

He announced yesterday he would appeal to circuit court, and immediately posted a $1,500 bond.

He was arrested July 24 on a charge of breach of the peace after a "freedom ride" at the Jackson Municipal Airport.

Panel Debates 'Dead or Red' In Preparedness Discussion

By Len Goodwin

The only defense against a nuclear attack is a nuclear war," said Father Eagothy, S.J., professor of ethics at the University of Santa Clara, in calling for continued military preparedness to meet the outbreak of a full-scale war.

Cecil Thomas, associate executive secretary of State Hall, disagreed sharply. "I would want the first bomb to drop on me. I don't want to go through the agony of another war."

Thomas and Eagothy were among speakers at a panel discussion on "Better Dead than Red: The Moral Problems of Third Nuclear War," sponsored by the University Interfaith Council. Thomas added, "It would be better to die trying for peace than to go underground in an attempt to protect against the effects of a nuclear war."

"To gain peace," he said, "we must get rid of nationalism and work toward brotherhood. I think we must find another way than saving the state must be allowed to defend itself."

Eagothy called for a mixture of idealism and realism, and "I think I speak for most Catholics when I say war is deplorable and should not exist."

"Some say modern warfare is too terrible," he added. "Therefore they feel that no war is just. Although war is so devastating, the right of defense cannot be taken away."

Eagothy added that history supported the state's right of defense. He charged the state cannot voluntarily abdicate this right and that the state must defend its citizens by every effective means.

Gov. De Coey, executive in chief in social welfare at the University, rejected the thesis "Better Dead than Red" calling it a "false dichotomy."

"Looking at the threat as a broad aspect, the only way that 'Dead than Red' could be appropriate is if 'Red' were to be equated with 'being alive,'" De Coey said.

De Coey further charged, "By assuming what the Communists are like, we are abstracting our responsibilities. It is an oversimplification."

M. P. Scamiller, a Christian Science magazine editor, said that neither side of the "Dead or Red" debate is valid.

Quoting St. John's, "The Bible says that the only way to peace is through justice," he said, "we must be just."

He called for a "moral and spiritual revolution" and "a new moral and political order."

Thomas said, "I am not a pacifist. I am a realist. I am a realist."

The above is very damaging evidence against Sachs because he and his wife have lied about the incident saying that the separation occurred solely by his administration.

Specifically, Thomas fostered the organization of local labor federations, the Campus Committee Against UML, and a list of "discussion" or political action groups.

Also when the University has over $4,000,000.00 in cash, it is required that the state's education officials be allowed to leave their state and go to college to receive their education at the University of Wisconsin.

Sincerely,

CECIL A. THOMAS

The California State University, Berkeley, in 1954, carried an announcement as per the enclosed and ~~the following~~ ~~the following~~ Secretary of the Ohio State University, in 1954, is now to become a member of the YMCA staff of the University of California at Berkeley.

There was a conscientious objector during the war and was looking for a result. His particular religious pattern is that of the WORLD PEOPLES SERVICE COMMITTEE and the FOUNDATION OF HUMAN CIVILIZATION. He was one of the most vigorous initial and promoters of front organizations and left-wing causes following the war on the left campus. We are certain, for example, that he initiated the ALLIANCE PROGRESSIVE. I know for sure that his mimeograph machine produced letters for not only the PROGRESSIVES but the WORLD PEOPLES SERVICE and the like.

In 1948 or 1949 he was accused, unfortunately, of being a member of the Party but this could not be established. When this was made known by the university authorities, the left-wing crowd published a blast and extolled Thomas to the skies, following which he has operated more quietly.

Thomas has left office. It is not an unusual, common occurrence, which you will recall from the case of the California Institute, etc. Since Berkeley is a state supported institution, I am hopeful that you will not only be able to discover who initiated the move to oust Thomas, but to contain him now that the act has been perpetrated.

Quakers freight 'hot' asparagus to Ike

PEEL L. A. THOMAS

By SHEILA ROYER

Radioactive asparagus, crated and addressed to the United States president, the premier of Russia and the Prime Minister of Great Britain were sent today by the Quaker meeting of Berkeley.

In protest against nuclear weapons tests and the arms race, the Berkeley Friends (Quakers) purchased and tested the vegetable at the University radiation laboratory.

They were found to contain radioactive elements above normal background.

"We are not able to get conclusive information as to how dangerous these vegetables are, but we do not feel easy about feeding them to our children," the group said in a letter accompanying the parcels.

The Northern California grown asparagus, bought locally, was sent to the heads of governments conducting nuclear tests. They now will have first-hand evidence of the damage being done to the world's food, according to the Quaker meeting.

Receiving the crates of vegetables will be President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The shipments, which were sent air freight, will arrive in Washington, D.C. Wednesday. The group letter states "We call upon you to halt unconditionally, not suspend temporarily all testing of nuclear weapons."

In stating the purpose of the radioactive packages, the letter says, "We send you, who are primarily responsible, this sample as an expression of our concern over what is happening to the world's food. . . this produce is a symbol of the increasing danger to the whole world of continued nuclear testing."

Quaker Friends represented the Berkeley Friends purchased the vegetables and helped send them off.

The parcels intended for Premier Macmillan and President Khrushchev were shipped through their embassies in Washington.

Commenting on the broadcast, Alexander Gendron, treasurer and donor of the group, stated that all vegetables to plant and eat. No samples of asparagus have been tested, nor do we intend to test any," Gendron said.

"A pitagorus is probably one of the lowest vegetables in dust content," the researcher said. "It is a slender, cylindrical spear growing vertically in the ground and could not collect radioactive dust in quantities even near that of leafy vegetables such as spinach or lettuce."

It is possible that we think will be the best choice," he said. "The big leaf lettuce makes it easier to collect the dust from the downy mildew."

I personally eat lettuce and also permit my children to do likewise," the researcher said. "I don't think there is a real hazard."

Gendron is research assistant to Harold Jones, assistant director of the laboratory and professor of medical physics at present working with the state of California on fallout.

Kenneth Royer, assistant director of the University agricultural experiment station, said "I've had one or two pitagorus in the past 19 years and I'm still here and feel fine."

I won't quit eating that vegetable or salad until more authoritative information is released that do better the amount of radioactivity brought," he said.
